NO. 195—SIXTY-NINTH YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY, JULY 29, 1927 TWENTY PAGES

ANGRY SCENE IS PRESENTED IN IRISH DAIL

Minister Accuses Laborites of Wanting to Make Political Capital Out of Death of Late Vice-President

PRESIDENT REFUSES TO ASK WITHDRAWAL

Laborites Then Leave House in a Body—Mr. de Valera Under Police Protection—Has Been Threatened

DUBLIN, July 27.—An accusation launched at the Laborites in the Dail today by Minister of Education Marus O'Sullivan resulted in a noisy and angry scene which culminated in a withdrawal of the Laborites from the House.

The trouble occurred during the debate on the Government's Public Safety Bill, which gives wide powers for dealing with what officials characterize as revolutionary activity. The Laborites have been offering opposition to the Bill. Professor O'Sullivan accused the Laborites of wanting to make political capital of the assassination of the late Vice-President, Kevin O'Higgins. The Laborites pounded their benches and demanded a withdrawal of the charge.

President Cosgrave shouted: "I won't ask the minister to withdraw."

"Come out of this." He then led the Labor Party in a procession from the House.

DE VALERA THREATENED

Mr. Eamonn de Valera, following the assassination of Vice-President Kevin O'Higgins, received numerous threatening letters, and the Irish Free State authorities have placed him under police protection, it was learned today.

A plain clothes man accompanies the Republican leader everywhere. Other Republican leaders also received threatening letters.

RECENT ADVERTISEMENT OFFERING LAND FOR SALE EXCITES SURPRISE AND REGRET

Company Arranged to Buy Site of Hard Fighting and Offers It as Gift to Nation

LONDON, July 27.—A feeling of surprise and regret was caused by the recent appearance in an advertisement in a London paper offering for sale the famous Hill Sixty, scene of some of the hardest fighting in the Ypres sector during the Great War. This regret has been assuaged, however, by the announcement that the John Calder Company had arranged to purchase the property and had written to the Government offering to present it to the nation. It is understood the gift will be accepted if no difficulties arise from the fact that the Hill is on foreign soil.

TO PLACE ESSEX RING ON ELIZABETH'S TOMB

LONDON, July 27.—The historic Essex ring, Queen Elizabeth's gift, has changed ownership for the last time and is to be placed in her tomb in Westminster Abbey. The ring recently was sold at public auction at Christie's and brought only $2,600. Its purchaser, Ernest Makower, has since presented it to the nation so that it may remain forever in England.

Eminent Financier to Make Visit to Victoria

RT. HON. SIR ROBERT S. HORNE
Honorary president of the Second (Triennial) Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress, who will open the Congress in Montreal on August 22. Sir Robert was Chancellor of the Exchequer in 1921 and 1922. Special trains will convey the delegates for a six weeks' tour through the mining centres of Canada to study the mineral resources of the country. The itinerary includes a visit to Victoria about the middle of September.

LABOR WORKER OFFERS PROBLEM

Premier of Queensland Explains Experience With Various State Socialistic Enterprises

PASSES THROUGH HERE HOMEWARD

Hon. W. McCormack, Labor Premier of Queensland, passed through Victoria last evening on the Ss. Aorangi homebound to Australia. In a chat with The Colonist he pointed to the problem of the manual worker over a wide range of territory, owing to the varying climatic conditions of the State testing many types of citizens.

However anxious the Government has been to improve the condition of the manual laborer, Mr. McCormack says, these people do not give the same efficient service to the State that they give to the private employer. "In certain features as the retail trade, in canning and similar industries, in State hotels, there has not been the success which the Legislature had the right to expect, whereas, among the professional workers for the Government we have nothing to complain of. Our State insurance project has succeeded, and we are giving better service than the private companies. There land, outside the company in Queensland, oustide the company insurance interests themselves, who would not be ready to give credit to the State for its insurance efforts.

PRINCIPLE RIGHT

"If we could get the service in State enterprises to which we are entitled, I am just as convinced as ever that the principle is right," Mr. McCormack explained.

Mr. McCormack spoke optimistically of the development of the tropical industries: sugar, cotton, and certain classes of fruit, as reflecting a steady development, and mentioned that one of his missions had been to look into details affecting the new industry, the conversion of wood fibre from the refuse of the sugar cane. By utilizing the cane fibre, used hitherto as fuel, the process will make the fibres into a board upwards of five-eighths of an inch thick, suitable for building purposes. This will naturally be an industrial process for the tropics, where sugar is grown, and also the manufacture of power alcohol will aid this section.

He had been engaged, like his predecessor, Hon. E. G. Theodore, who passed through here in 1923, on this visit, in financial transactions. The system of consolidating State borrowing powers with the Commonwealth Government appears to meet with his approval, and he thinks the system as modified by the Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. S. M. Bruce, will be generally accepted in future.

RECIPROCITY

Like most Australian statesmen, he regards the reciprocity treaty as beneficial chiefly to Canada so long as the balance of trade remains so largely in favor of Canada, and expresses the hope that many of the products of tropical Australia, as well as that of the temperate South, may find a market on this side.

Mr. McCormack is now on his way home to Brisbane to resume his duties. His predecessor, one of the ablest Labor men in the Commonwealth, is now leader of the Federal Labor Party, having recently entered the House of Representatives for a Sydney constituency.

Fire Hazard Data Will Be Broadcast Here

Arrangements have been concluded between the Forest Protection Branch of the Provincial Government and the management of CFCT, Victoria's radio station, whereby the evening weather forecasts will be enlarged to include comprehensive predictions of conditions which affect the forest fire menace. The details will be supplied by Mr. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill, and announced every evening at 7:30 o'clock.

These predictions will be of importance to every inhabitant and visitor in this Province, and it is hoped that the general public will take advantage of this opportunity to better protect their own resources.

MAN DROWNS BEFORE EYES OF HIS WIFE

Children Also Witness Tragedy That Takes Life of Their Father, Mr. G. W. Williams, 1715 Fourth St.

HEART TROUBLE BELIEVED CAUSE

Messrs. Wm. Gerard, Ernest Bridges and Knight Make Heroice Attempt to Rescue Man

WHILE his wife and three children helplessly looked on, Mr. George Williams, of 1715 Fourth Street, was drowned at Cordova Bay at 7:30 o'clock last night when taken with a seizure a short distance from shore. Three men, on seeing his predicament, immediately rushed in, hauled him out of the water and rendered first aid. Mayor J. Carl Pendray, who witnessed the tragedy from the veranda of his Summer home, immediately telephoned to the city police for the pulmotor, which was used on the man for an hour and a half to no avail.

Mr. Williams rented a cottage at the Summer resort the early part of this month and had been accustomed to going in for a swim in the evening. As usual, he took his wife and three daughters to the sands last night. One of the girls went in swimming with him.

He swam out to a log some thirty or forty yards from shore. Turning around, he commenced to swim back. When only a short distance from shore he commenced to struggle and cry for help. Messrs. William Gerard, Ernest Bridges and a Mr. Knight, hearing the cries for help and seeing the man in trouble, immediately rushed out to his assistance. Mr. Gerard, who was nearest, dove down and brought the man to the surface, and with the help of the other two rescuers brought him to shore. Very little time had elapsed.

In the meantime Chief Hastings and Constable Rankin, of the Saanich police, were telephoned to and arrived shortly afterwards. In response to the call put in by Mayor Pendray the city police rushed out the pulmotor.

All efforts failed to revive the man. Dr. Gordon Kenning was called in on the case and on examination said that death was due either to heart trouble or acute indigestion.

Mr. Williams was well known in this city, having been connected with the postal department. He had several mail contracts and acquired a large circle of friends in connection with his business.

The body is now at Curry's Funeral Parlors, where the funeral service will be held following the injuest.

The tragedy occurred before the eyes of many picnickers and campers who were on the beach.

CRITIC REVEALS HIS OWN DEFECTS

PETTY RIVALRY BETWEEN PRINCE AND MR. BALDWIN THOUGHT PROBABLE BY PAPER

Specimen Given of Imagination Others Are Accused of Lacking—Tact Also Exhibited

LONDON, July 27.—Truth a society and financial weekly in its issue today, says whoever planned the joint tour of the Prince of Wales, Prince George and Premier and Mrs. Baldwin to Canada must be singularly lacking in imagination.

"The Prince of Wales is not the sovereign and Mr. Baldwin is not a Pitt." Truth says, "but it is tactless, to say the least, to run the risk of a clash of popularity and unsought rivalry between the heir apparent and the Prime Minister of Great Britain. How are the Canadians so to divide their hospitality as to betray no sign of preferring the Prince to the Premier, or vice versa. It is putting a severe strain on the social tact of our friends in the Dominion who attach much more weight that we do the strict observance of table precedence. Luckily the Prince is what is called democratic in his habits, and the Prime Minister is always assuring us that he is a plain blunt man, so it may be hoped the second lion will not think the first a bore, though who will be the first lion, and who the second we will not attempt to prophesy."

Truth proceeds to declare that in its opinion the tour is a mistake because of the state of the Premier's health. "Mr. Baldwin is going to take a 'Busy man's holiday' by visiting a country where, in adition to long railway journeys and exhausting public meals, he will be expected to make the most difficult kind of speeches about nothing in particular at every place he visits."

FURTHER GRIEF

Apropos of a suggestion by the Times that Premier Baldwin during his trip to Canada should meditate on the reconstruction of the British Ministry, Truth says it would be more to the point to consider the question of reducing the size of the Cabinet, twenty-two being "a preposterous number" of members for a secret and efficient council.

HAMILTON, Ont., July 27.—Harvey Capman has been awarded a bronze medal for heroism by the Royal Humane Association, according to an announcement made here today, for the rescue from drowning of Enid Price at Nanaimo, B.C.

Coroner Today Will Investigate Death Of Miss Coddington

THE inquest into the death of Miss Jean Coddington, who died in the Jubilee Hospital as a result of injuries received in a motor accident on Rockland Avenue early Monday morning, will be held at the B. C. Funeral Parlor at 10 o'clock this morning by Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart.

Mr. Fraser Tolmie, who was the driver of the car, and sustained severe head injuries, was reported to be progressing as well as could be expected last night.

It is quite probable that the inquest will be adjourned after hearing all available witnesses this morning until such time as the evidence of Mr. Tolmie can be given. Mr. Tolmie is not expected to be in a condition to give evidence today.

B.C.E.R. Earnings Show Large Gain Over Last Year's

VANCOUVER, July 27.—The British Columbia Electric Railway Company's year, ended June 30, is expected to show a big increase in earnings over the previous twelve months.

For the eleven months, ending May 31, aggregate gross earnings had shown an increase of $644,000, and net earnings an increase of about $250,000, standing for the year at $3,387,090.

The annual report of earnings is not yet available, but June being a heavy travel month the traction division of the company's services should turn in a goodly total of receipts.

BRITISH POLICY CLEARLY STATED

Foreign Secretary Tells Parliament What Position Has Been Taken at Naval Conference, and Why

TEMPORARY TERMS MAY BE PROPOSED

LONDON, July 27.—Great Britain has no desire to destroy equality of sea power, as between herself and the United States, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Minister, today told the House of Commons in an eagerly awaited statement defending the proposals set forth by the British delegates at the tripartite naval conference at Geneva.

"Depite the efforts of our delegates at Geneva," he said, "serious misapprehensions of the aims of the British Government still prevailed in some quarters. His Majesty's Government even has been charged with the desire to destroy that equality of sea power as between the United States and the British Empire, which the Washington conference contemplated—a suspicion for which there is no foundation."

Sir Austen told the House that the British plenipotentiaries who have been consulting the cabinet in London, were returning to Geneva to continue the negotiations which it was trusted would reach a successful conclusion. In the opinion of the British Government, he said, there need be no difficulty in reaching a temporary arrangement regarding the immediate future of the difficult question of cruiser building.

Mrs. Mallory Beaten By Youthful Star

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 27.—Miss Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Cal., today defeated Mrs. Molla Mallory, national women's champion, in the quarter-finals of the Essex County Club invitation tournament here, 6-0, 10-8.

Uncovering a dashing brand of tennis which kept the gallery gasping, Miss Jacobs took, without the loss of a game, the first set of her match with Mrs. Mallory. The assault made by the eighteen-year-old girl took the spectators by surprise, for she is too newly arrived in the women's division to have attained a ranking.

Miss Jacobs continued her winning way into the second set.

High Praise Given to Organizing Efficiency Shown—President Edward Brown Sees New Era in Industry

OTTAWA, July 27.—"Ottawa, 1927, should, nay, will, prove the opening of a new and greater era in poultry history," declared Mr. Edward Brown, of London, England, president of the International Association of Poultry Investigators and Instructors, in his address tonight at the World's Poultry Congress, of which he is also president.

"This congress," he continued, "has brought poultrymen and women all over the world, close together. It should lead to extended vision, to unity of spirit, in combination with a broadening of experience." Mr. Brown stated that the gathering and large numbers of exhibits were "representative of a development which is one of the romances of our age."

"The keeping of poultry is within the sphere and scope of almost every section of the people of all nations," declared President Brown. "In some of the older countries the eggs and poultry produced are greater in value than crops of wheat and of many other products."

Progression had been phenomenal in some respects, most of all in what may be termed bulk or mass production, he stated, in referring to the development of the poultry industry. In several districts and countries where there were densely congested population or profitable outlets for products were available, ten thousand fowls or other poultry were found where "one or none existed in former days."

OTTAWA, July 27. — The third world poultry congress was officially opened this morning with thousands of delegates and members from all five continents in attendance.

WASHINGTON OFFICIALS SEE LITTLE PROSPECT FOR SUCCESS AT GENEVA

British Statement to Parliament Felt to Spell Early Adjournment of Conference

WASHINGTON, July 27.—On the basis of press reports as to the statements made by the British Foreign Secretary in the House of Commons today, Washington officials saw little prospect for a successful outcome at Geneva.

They refused to comment for publication, however, in the absence of the complete speech. The statement made by the minister as to inapplicability of the Washington formula for battleships to the cruiser difficulty apparently convinced them that American and British viewpoints as to what constitutes naval parity between the two countries were far apart.

There is no question that many State Department officials feel that the British declaration today virtually spells the early adjournment of the Geneva conference without any agreement for further naval limitation.

The suggestion of the Foreign Minister that Great Britain was prepared to consider some form of "temporary" agreement brought no official reaction, although some officials could see no advantage in an agreement of so short duration that it could involve only building programmes already mapped out.

Party of Medical Men View B.C. Electric Co.'s Hydro-Electric Development Project at Jordan River

EXTENSIVE WORK IS CARRIED OUT

Inspection of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company's hydro-electric development at Jordan River was made yesterday by members of the Victoria Medical Society, who were guests of the company on a tour of its plant. The medical men viewed the power house, forebay reservoir, the flume, the lofty Jordan River diversion dam, and the sawmill and other works of the company in operation.

The visitors were shown over the company's equipment by Mr. A. T. Goward, vice-president; Mr. G. M. Tripp, general superintendent; Mr. E. N. Horsey, resident engineer; Mr. Thomas R. Myers, publicity manager, and Mr. D. I. Walker, superintendent of the Jordan River system, and Mr. Jack Elliott, engineer in charge of the power plant, who explained in detail the various portions of the extensive plant, and told of the development work that had been executed.

During the past five years the British Columbia Electric Company has effected improvements to the transmission lines, and services in the city, and has carried out increased storage facilities at Jordan River. The company will be able to handle increased power and light loads from Jordan River into Victoria.

The company has increased its storage capacity by 2,000,000 kilowatt hours, equivalent to a two-week run, by

EVANGELIST NOT LOVING PARENT

Mrs. Aimee McPherson and Her Mother Engage in Mutual Public Accusations and Recriminations

DISCIPLES JOIN IN UNSEEMLY SQUABBLE

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—The rift in the affairs of Angelus Temple split wide open today. Its earthquake-like proportions revealing the dissension within.

The revelations of Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, deposed business manager, of the row over Temple finances, which she said has sent their differences into the hands of lawyers and during which she accused her evangelist daughter, Aimee Semple McPherson, of lying, had sent the latter prostrated to her bed.

The evangelist was accused by her mother of hiring six or eight persons to stir up a revolt against her at Angelus Temple and in the branch churches. She was accused of making a false statement against her mother and then denying that she ever made it. She was accused of turning her back on her mother and telling her she would speak to her only through her lawyer, with the matter to be settled in the courts. The campaign of her daughter against her, Mrs. Kennedy charged, started soon after the evangelist's court trial on conspiracy charges was dismissed last Winter, which grew out of her asserted kidnapping a year ago. It went ahead with the slogan, "Get sister back in her rightful place as pastor and president of Angelus Temple."

AIMEE REPLIES

The evangelist this afternoon, in reply, issued a statement charging Mrs. Kennedy with threatening to "break her."

"Five different people," Mrs. McPherson asserted, "whom I can name have told me that mother has told them she would crush me, break me, and close every pulpit in the country to me."

An Angelus Temple committee, named by Aimee Semple McPherson to act in the squabble between herself and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, over Temple control, tonight made the suggestion to "Mother" Kennedy that she return to her "wealthy husband, W. Whittbeck, of New York."

BYRD OUTLINES PLAN FOR TRIP TO SOUTH POLE

No Nonstop Flight to Be Attempted — Planes to Be Used to Carry Stores to Camps 100 Miles Apart

EACH CAMP TO HAVE SIX MONTHS' SUPPLY

Base of Operations to Be Established on Discovery Harbor, Where Capt. Scott and Amundsen Had Quarters

BOSTON, July 27. — Commander Richard E. Byrd, at his home here, today outlined to the Associated Press his plans and hopes for his scientific expedition to the South Polar regions.

There will be two monoplanes, he said: One with a single motor similar to the one Clarence Chamberlin flew from New York to Germany, and another with three motors, resembling the America that carried the commander across the Atlantic.

Discovery Harbor probably will be the first contact he will make with the icy waters of the Antarctic. Discovery Harbor is in the great ice barrier and extends inland five or six miles. On its west shore Scott, who lost his life returning from the Pole, after discovering that Amundsen had been there just ahead of him, had his base. On the east shore Amundsen set up his camp.

"After erecting our portable houses on the shores of the inlet we will work toward the Pole in airplane jumps," Commander Byrd said.

"I plan to cache stores of food estimated to be sufficient for six months every hundred miles up to 500 miles inland.

"These little camps will be laid down by airplanes. That is, we will load the plane with six months' provisions, hop off for a point a hundred miles from the base where we will leave the supplies. Then, returning to the base, we will take on another similar load and jump 200 miles to establish another camp, and so on until we have five of them."

SAMOA MEASURE GIVEN MAJORITY

NEW ZEALAND HOUSE PASSES BILL BY VOTE OF MORE THAN THREE TO ONE

Wide Powers Given for Dealing With Persons Hindering Functions of of Government

WELLINGTON, N. Z., July 27.—Despite protests from Mr. H. E. Holland, leader of the Labor Opposition in the New Zealand House of Representatives, who characterized the Samoan Amending Bill as terroristic legislation and fought against it being rushed through, the bill received its third reading this morning in the House after an all-night sitting. The vote was forty-one to twelve in favor of the measure.

The bill gives the New Zealand Government wider powers for dealing with persons in Samoa "hindering the functions and duties" of the Government in connection with its administration of the Island of Samoa under the League of Nations mandate. Under New Zealand's mandate, Major-General Sir George Richardson is administrator.

The bill just passed is the outcome of agitation instigated by white traders against the present administration which seeks to prevent them from exploiting the natives.

MR. R. P. M'LENNAN DIES IN HOSPITAL

Prominent Vancouver Man Ends Varied Career—Once in Business in Victoria

VANCOUVER, July 27.—Mr. R. P. McLennan, sixty-six, one of the most prominent business men of Vancouver and a well known figure in Liberal circles, died in hospital here this afternoon after a short illness. Born in Pictou, N.S., Mr. McLennan went to Winnipeg in 1882 and, two years later, to Victoria, B.C. In 1898 he went to the Yukon for a short holiday, but remained for several years during which period he served as Mayor of Dawson in its boom days.

After returning to Vancouver he served at various times as director of McGill University, of the University of British Columbia, and as president of the Vancouver Board of Trade.

When Mr. McLennan went to Victoria he entered the hardware business. Business developed so rapidly that he sent for his old friend, Mr. E. J. McPeely, then residing in Minneapolis, to join him. A branch business was established in Vancouver, and later, in 1896, the firm concentrated in this city and incorporated under the name of McLennan, McPeely & Co. Ltd.

FRANCE'S ENVOY TO PROTEST TO SOVIET

PARIS, July 27. — Jean Herbette, French ambassador at Moscow, who recently spent two weeks in Paris, returned to his post bearing instructions that the Soviet Government be informed that Communist propaganda in France is becoming intolerable to French public opinion, it was learned today.

Although the French Foreign Office says that M. Herbette was not instructed to make official representations involving both governments in an exchange of notes, official circles are certain that he was to make the Soviet Government cognizant in an informal and unofficial manner of the sentiment of the French people and Government.

RETAIL MERCHANTS PASS RESOLUTIONS

SAINT JOHNS, N.B., July 27.—The Dominion Board of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, here last night, adopted twenty resolutions, the most important of these asking further reduction in the sales tax, protest against the reduction in parcel post rates, requested tax on mail order houses, based proportionately on the operating expenses of merchants in the municipality in which they are conducted. It is urged that such a tax be paid to the Government and distributed in proportion to the municipalities. The association pledged cooperation with other organizations in the remedying of price-cutting evils on nationally advertised goods, and the abolition of the stamp tax.

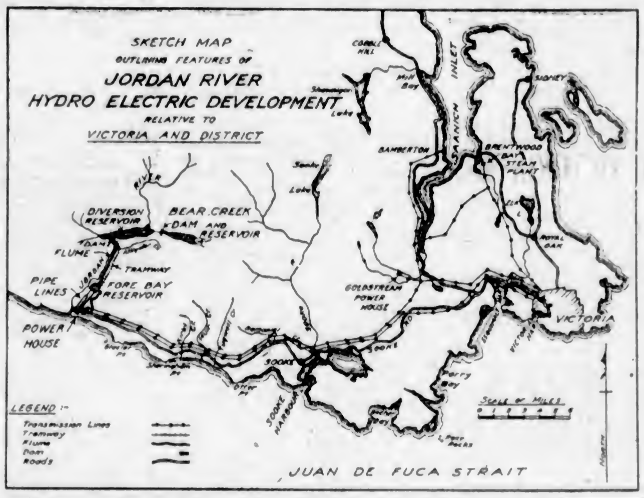
building a 305-foot extension of the dam. The flume is now in the course of being entirely rebuilt and enlarged by fifty per cent, and the high trestles are "being replaced with permanent structures built of reinforced concrete.

Directed by British Columbia Electric officials, the party of medical men left the city on the Jordan River trip shortly after 11 a.m., and, upon arrival at Jordan River, luncheon was thoroughly enjoyed. This was followed by an inspection of the entire plant of the company.

The Jordan River power plant is situated at the mouth of the Jordan River, which flows into the Straits of Juan de Fuca at a point thirty-seven miles west of Victoria. Preliminary work was begun on the project in 1909. The original unit of 6,000 horsepower was completed in 1912. By the end of 1914 two additional units had been installed and placed in operation, bringing the total capacity of this plant up to 25,000 horsepower. Provision has been made for an additional unit of 13,000 horsepower.



THE FOREBAY RESERVOIR

Water is diverted at the Jordan River dam and conducted for 5.3 miles in an open wooden flume to the forebay reservoir. From this reservoir, pipe lines conduct the water to the impulse wheels in the power house.

The forebay reservoir, approximately two miles from the power house and having an elevation of 1,145 feet above the power house, is formed by the erection of two earth-fill dams. It acts as a balancing reservoir between the flume discharge and the intakes of the pipe lines.

The medical men, after visiting the power house building and viewing the water wheels and generators, exciters, switchboard, transformers, lighting arresters and pressure pipe lines, took a trip on observation cars over the scenic railway on standard equipment to the diversion dam. The visitors were particularly delighted with the five and one-half-mile ride on the company's line, which runs close to the flume, and witnessed fine glimpses of scenery en route.

THREE BLACK BEARS

Upon arrival at the end of the railway, the party proceeded on to the flume, and, looking into the Jordan River Valley below, witnessed three black bears, which appeared to be quite tame, cavorting on the rocks and grassy slopes. The party then walked along the flume to the dam.

The flume is of the open type, six feet square and has a constant grade of one foot in 1,000. It has a capacity of 175 cubic feet of water per second. It follows the east side of the Jordan River Valley, except for a short distance just below the dam, where it crosses to the west side of the river by means of a concrete aqueduct. During its course between the forebay and the dam, the flume crosses several deep gulches by means of high trestles.

The doctors next inspected the dam, which is about seven and one-half miles above the powerhouse. It is a reinforced concrete hollow structure of the Ambursen flat slab and buttress type, and has a crest elevation of 1;268 feet above sea level. Its total length is 891 feet. Its maximum height is 126 feet. The spillway is 306 feet long, and provides for a flood discharge of 22,000 cubic feet per second. The flashboard structure, recently completed within the spillway, increases the impounding capacity of the reservoir by twenty per cent.

STORAGE CAPACITY OF DAM

The storage capacity of the dam is now 16,500 acre-feet, or an equivalent of 12,000,000 kiliowatt hours at the powerhouse. The area flooded is 422 acres. The drainage area of the watershed is eighty-three square miles. The volume of concrete in the dam is 21,600 cubic yards, with a total weight of reinforcing steel of 390 tons. Two sets of gates are installed, two for operating purposes, and two for emergencies.

Viewing the last addition to the company's plant, the visitors witnessed the sawmill in operation. As over 6,000,000 feet B.M. of lumber will be used in the reconstruction and enlargement of the flume, the company erected this sawmill, which contains head-saw, planer, edger and a large dad machine, all of which are electrically operated. The necessary lumber is obtained from timber at hand within the company's own watershed limits.

A number of interesting facts about the B.C. Electric system in British Columbia are that it was incorporated in 1897, it serves a territory of over 1,500 square miles, renders useful service (electricity and gas) to a population of over 375,000, embracing twenty-one different communities, has five hydro-electric plants and two large steam plants, with a total capacity of 202,100 horse-power, has further extensive hydro-electric development plans under way to care for the increasing power demands in this Province, employs 3,400 people, has an annual payroll of over $5,000,000, has 92,000 light and power customers, and has a total investment in British Columbia of $70,000,000.

TEA AT HEADQUARTERS

Before starting on the return trip to Victoria, the medical men were entertained at tea by the company at official headquarters, which commands a beautiful view of the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

Dr. Thomas McPherson, president of the Victoria Medical Society, expressed the thanks of the doctors to Mr. Goward and the British Columbia Electric Railway Company for their generous hospitality. The tour of the hydro-electric development of the company at Jordan River had been a delight, a revelation and an inspiration, and one which the medical men would long remember. He said it was a very kind thought for the company to invite the society on such an enjoyable, instructive expedition.

The speaker thanked the B. C. Electric for the specially-prepared greeting signs hanging on the walls of the Jordan River Club and reading as follows: "Welcome to Jordan River, Victoria Medical Society," and requested that the society be given one of them for its library.

The medical men expressed their appreciation of the company's hospitality by cheers and prolonged applause, followed by the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

MR. A. T. GOWARD REPLIES

Mr. Goward, in replying, stated that the management of the B.C. Electric, and also the engineering staff and employees, were very pleased to have the medical men visit Jordan River. He declared that the term, "Jordan River Plant," meant little to the man in the street, and he was glad that professional and business men came out and viewed the company's plant, took an interest in the company's problems and saw for themselves the difficulties that it necessarily had to contend with in giving proper service.

The doctors were seeing the plant under the most attractive conditions, stated Mr. Goward, who pointed out that there were many times in the Winter when continuous service was a far more difficult act to sustain.

"It is only because the company in the past spent a lot of money in trying to forsee difficulties and troubles that have arisen, and because of the loyal co-operation of the engineering staff, that we are able to render the service that we do," Mr. Goward asserted.

GIVES BEST SERVICE POSSIBLE

Mr. Goward observed that officials of the company took their responsibilities seriously, and that the employees realized that they had important duties to perform.

"We are sincerely trying to give the best results we can to the consumers, who pay with the expectation of such service," he said.

Dr. E. C. Hart told the gathering that the B.C. Electric Company had a reserve steam plant at Brentwood, where steam was kept up at all times through the year. Construction of this steam stand-by plant as an auxiliary to the Jordan River water power was begun early in 1912, and the first unit was placed in operation by November of the same year.

MEMBERS OF PARTY

The medical men who participated in the tour of the Jordan River hydro-electric development yesterday were: Dr. Thomas McPherson and Dr. R. L. Miller, president and secretary, respectively, of the Victoria Medical Society, Doctors D. M. Baillie, Walter Bapty, E. W. Boak, F. M. Bryant, W. Carr, D. Donald, J. M. Fowler, Allan Fraser, J. F. Grant, Gung, E. C. Hart, J. W. Lennox, W. H. McIntyre, A. E. McMicking, Howard Miller, W. E. M. Mitchell, A. W. Montague, J. H. Moore, R. H. Nelson, H. E. Ridewood, M. W. Thomas, W. P. Walker, J. H. Wasson, Wilson, and Colonel Drum and Mr. Nimmo.

VISITING TARS ARE GUESTS OF ARMY AND NAVY VETERANS' CLUB

The Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Local No. 12, were hosts at a smoker held in the clubrooms last night in honor of the visit of H.M.S. Colombo. About two hundred members of the visiting cruiser took this opportunity of mingling with the members and spending an enjoyable evening.

A lengthy programme, in which some of the leading entertainers of the city, as well as members of the crew of the H.M.S. Colombo, assisted, was carried out. Comrade C. G. McBride, chairman of the entertainment committee, was in charge of the proceedings.

The following artists contributed: Schofield, Nobby Faulkner, Livesay, Bob Webb, Hubbert, Phillips, Hughes, Bob Frith, Carmichael, Webb, Love, Jasper, Layton Winters, Uglow, C.P.O. Eversfield, C.P.O. Oram, Tom Obee, and Mr. Townley, from the Coliseum Theatre.

AIMEE OPENLY AT ODDS WITH MOTHER

LOS ANGELES, July 27. — Both Aimee Semple McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, will be ousted from Angelus Temple "before they know it," the latter predicted today, as the result of the open revolt in the church and the evangelist's refusal to speak to her mother except through a lawyer.

The evangelist was reported by her secretary, Miss Mae Waldron, to be prostrated in her home on account of her mother's revelations today, in which she charged Aimee with cruelty to her, with refusing to speak to her, and with the announcement that both had engaged attorneys through whom Mrs. McPherson had told her mother they would settle matters in the courts.

COLONY FAILURE STIRS MEMBER

Mr. R. H. Pooley, M.P.P. for District, Refers to Standfast Bible Students Collapse in Various Industrial Schemes

REVIEWS STORY OF ILL-FATED VENTURE

The report that the colonization scheme of the Standfast Bible Students, who have for a few years past in turn been located at Sooke and in the vicinity of Port Renfrew, has proved impracticable, is held by Mr. R. H. Pooley, M.P.P., the member for Esquimalt, as reflecting upon the administration of the Industrial Department of the Provincial Government. This is not Mr. Pooley's first criticism of the action of the department with respect to these people and their operations. In the House and in the Public Accounts Committee Mr. Pooley felt called upon to register objection, explaining that the operations were in his constituency, and he did not think that the Industrial Commissioner had shown the necessary care in connection with the transactions either from the standpoint of the Province, or looking to the welfare of those concerned.

RESPONSIBILITY DEFINITE

"There is no question that the Government of the day is responsible for waste of public money in this unfortunate case and also as contributors to much avoidable suffering and distress," says Mr. Pooley. "The facts are of record. Originally the Henshall Fish Products, Ltd., was formed to establish and operate a fertilizer plant at Sooke Spit and obtained an advance of approximately three thousand dollars from the Industrial Commissoiner, security allegedly being taken in the form of a 'conditional bill-of-sale.' This is attested by the public accounts for 1925, in which the amount due the Government is given as $3,060. The Star Construction Co., Ltd., took over the plant of the Henshall Fish Products Co. upon its abandonment of the enterprise as impossible of operation with profit; and the Industrial Commissioner (i.e. the Government) turned over to the Students the buildings and equipment intact without the scratch of a pen or semblance of security.

"There then was owing the Government a total of $3,538. The Henshall concern had paid off $153 on account of principal of its obligation, with $324 interest; but interest of $765 had by then accrued, the original loan having been for $3,251, so that $3,539 was outstanding against the plant when it was turned over to the Star Company.

"At the same time the Industrial Commissioner placed the community leaders in possession of four launches, two large and two smaller, owned by the Government and of a value of between $10,000 to $12,000. The largest of these was lost in the first month of experimental operations, and the second largest later. No security for these launches was given by the Star Construction Co., nor was there even provided the primary safeguard of insurance, so that the loss of these craft falls wholly on the Province through neglect of the fundamentals of business practice.

ANOTHER VENTURE

"The Bible Students, like their predecessors in the venture, failing to find a profit in the fertilizer manufacture, sought other occupation and were by the Government's Industrial Commissioner enabled to become associated with another defunct business venture. This was that of the San Juan Box Company, originally a returned soldier project, in which these luckless war veterans lost not only their time and effort but considerable money of their own. Transportation costs primarily made success impossible.

"The Government in this case had loaned $56,620 of the taxpayers' money (interest included) on the questionable security of a chattel mortgage which covered also the auxiliary San Juan Hotel; and having later re-possessed the non-productive property in default of the loan's repayment, turned it over to the Bible Students, the Commissioner says as caretakers, but in any event again without documentary record of the transaction, thereby waiving the prior existing security for advances exceeding fifty thousand dollars.

LOGGED-OFF LAND

"As experience had demonstrated, the box factory so located could not be made pay; and again the community heads cast about for other occupational and exploitation possibilities. There was up San Juan River, approximately eight miles, an abandoned logging railway camp with the usual appurtenant buildings and a small area of logged-off land. These were bought privately for $1,000, and the Government appealed to for a road to connect with the port of call at the river's mouth. The land was and is unsuitable at present for colonization purposes; the people placed upon it were of a type wholly unfitted physically or by experience for success in such an undertaking, had it been feasible for pioneering agriculturists. The obvious duty of governmental advisers was to have pointed out, and sought to dissuade the movers from a course foredoomed to failure. Instead, the Public Works Department presented to the Students tools and equipment of a value of $3,000 and provided employment for the community workers at current wages in the building of their road, which is of indifferent quality, serves no colonization purpose and is not capable of adaptation as a communication link in any Island road system. With abandonment of the holdings to which it reaches, it will be traveled by few indeed."

Indigestion, Gas on Stomach and General Run-Down Condition Relieved for Queens Avenue Resident.

You need go no further than among your own friends and neighbors to procure the facts about Husky, the wonderful herb preparation, distributed by the MacFarlane Drug Co. The men and women of Victoria now know from personal experience that this preparation relieves stomach, liver, kidney and bowel ailments, and by placing these organs in a healthy condition drives out such common ills as headaches, dizzy spells, indigestion, gas and sour stomach, constipation, rheumatic pains, nervousness, unsound sleep and weak, worn out feelings.

E. D. HILL

This man will tell you that Husky is the best preparation he ever found for relieving headaches, dizzy spells and a disordered condition of the nervous system.

VICTORIA CASE CITED

Among the thousands here using Husky and telling of the fine results they are receiving is Mr. Robert Brown, 1144 Queen's Avenue, clerk at the Douglas Hotel for the past three years and well known in Victoria. He tells of his experience with Husky as follows:

"I had been in a general run-down condition for some time. I was suffering much from indigestion and had practically lost my appetite. Gas would form on my stomach after meals and make me feel miserable.

"Friends told me about Husky, and I began using its treatment. I was really surprised when this medicine helped me so much, and now I am feeling like a new man, thanks to the Husky treatment. I am feeling much stronger and indigestion and gas no longer affect me. I actually feel hungry at mealtime now.

"Husky is fine and I want to recommend it to those in Victoria who do not know what a splendid preparation it is. Anyone suffering as I did would do well to give it a trial."

PARLIAMENT SQUARE HAS HAD EXCELLENT DISPLAY OF ROSES

For years the rose display at the Parliament Buildings during the season has been one of the great attractions of the grounds. This year the showing has been no exception to the rule unless it is that the display has been even better than is usual.

Mr. H. H. Reed, head gardener, attributes the excellent showing to the fact that this has been an exceptionally good year for the development of roses and for their continued blooming. The weather has been favorable and the best results have been obtained.

Rose cultivation at the buildings has been confined so far to the bush and climber varieties. None of the standard roses have been cultivated on the grounds. In addition to the roses that have been such an attraction there has been on exhibition on the Government side of the grounds, near the power house, some beds of nemesia which have been the subject of a great deal of favorable comment. These are an annual which originated in South Africa and which are comparatively new in this country. They make a most brilliant display, the bloom being of many colors blending excellently with each other.

The other varieties of flowers displayed on the grounds are doing excellently and there will be a fine exhibit of gladioli and dahlias which are just coming into full flower.

MONROE DOCTRINE NOT ACCEPTABLE

Head of Japan Delegation to Pacific Institute Takes Issue With Policy of United States

HONOLULU, July 27.—The draft of a proposed treaty to abolish war among the nations of the Pacific was before the Institute of Pacific Relations here today, having been presented by an American delegate, Professor James T. Shotwell, of the history department of Columbia University.

Divergent views as to the applicability of the proposed "American Locarno" to the nations involved were expressed by the delegates, particularly those from Japan. Professor Kenzo Takayaagi, head of the Japanese delegation, announced a clause in the proposed Shotwell treaty containing an exception in behalf of the Monroe Doctrine would not be acceptable to his country. The Japanese spokesman maintained that the Monroe Doctrine was contrary to international law.

Dr. Stanley E. Hornbeck, of Harvard University, declared there was little chance of war between Japan and the United States short of "a brainstorm on the part of both governments."

Professor Shotwell explained the purpose of the treaty at length, declaring he believed it applicable to the Pacific since he had Japan in mind when he drew it up. He cited Poland and Germany as examples of nations which had abandoned war as a policy. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, American feminist leader, contended it would be illogical to hold undeveloped territory in the Americas and elsewhere in cases where such territory was secured through conquest. She maintained that such territory having been taken through conquest should not be held against over-populated countries under threats of war if any colony-seeking nation should attempt acquisition.

"We are deluding ourselves when we say there is no chance for war in the Pacific," said H. Duncan Hall, Australian delegate.

F. W. Eggleston, another Australian representative, declared the greatest trouble with Shotwell's treaty was that a strong nation like the United States could persuade Japan to sign, where a weak one, like China, could not. He suggested disarmament in the Pacific could be treated regionally and urged the institute to consider the question.

Plan Expedition To See Indian Relics

An expedition to the vicinity of Coles Bay for the purpose of studying the Indian relics, is planned by the Natural History Society next month. The plans were discussed at the regular meeting of the society held on Monday last. Four new members were reported as elected, and three proposals for membership were received.

Specimens and reports were examined with interest, the evening being all too short for discussion on the many subjects brought up. A member described the trip to Mt. Kiltza, west of Sproat Lake, whence some good specimens of flora had been obtained. Correspondence on the bird and animal life in the Telkwa area and on the early liberation of skylarks thirty years ago, was discussed, and the formation of a huge sanctuary for migratory birds in Louisiana was brought to the society's attention.

A new form of radio crystals was described by a member.

Several suggestions with regard to field days were received and the Coles Bay expedition next month met with favor.

Dick—"My wife never asks me where I go."

Violet—"You don't say so!"

Dick—"She always goes with me to see for herself."

ELECTION PROSPECTS

Members of the Liberal Caucus, in other words supporters of the Government, who were recently in session here, have gone back to their constituencies to sound out public sentiment on the desirability of a Provincial election being held during the coming Autumn. In the long run it is probably not public sentiment that will decide the matter at all but the desire of the Government to go to the country rather than face the likelihood of defeat at the next session of the Legislature. Defeat in the Legislature would entail resignation and the advent of the Conservatives to power, which would mean that the Conservatives would be able to appeal to the country as a Government, an advantage which it is hardly conceivable that the Liberals would allow them to enjoy if it can be averted by any means. There is no security of its being averted if another session of the Legislature is held before an election.

The Liberals at their recent caucus, discussed the desirability of holding an election and there was a very clear-cleavage of opinion on the subject. Premier Oliver, in announcing his design to resign office, is believed to have urged the advisability of a Provincial election without undue loss of time in the event of a new Government being formed under Dr. J. D. MacLean. Possibly his viewpoint has changed with his acquiescence in the desire of his followers to continue in office as Premier. The conditions, however, which make an election what can be regarded from a party standpoint as a political necessity, have not changed, and the indications are becoming more emphatic that the Government will appeal to the country before many months have passed. It is the wisest political course to ascertain the state of public opinion in view of the developments that have taken place.

A general election will obviate the necessity of a by-election in New Westminster, where the seat is now vacant through the death of Dr. Rothwell. A by-election there is a test which the Liberals are hardly prepared to face after the result in North Okanagan. Should the decision be reached that no general election will be held until after another session of the Legislature, then a by-election must be held in New Westminster, and the Government will run the risk of having new strength added to the Conservative Opposition. It will hardly be prepared, because of the circumstances that prevail, to run such a risk. In other words, it is growing more obvious that a Provincial election is impending, although, for the time being, in the hope of postponing the event, the Government is, Micawber-like, hoping that "something will turn up."

IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBT

Judge Parry, the eminent English County Court Judge, had something very trenchant to say on what he called "A blot on British justice," when a number of prison governors and chaplains made representations recently to the British Home Office on the question of imprisonment for debt. The Home Office had invited the observations, otherwise the learned judge could not have spoken, the business of judges being to administer the laws, not to criticize them. Lord Brougham once spoke in the House of Commons for six hours about legal reform, with a hatful of oranges in front of him to keep his voice in good fettle, and among other things he told his countrymen that it would be well for them if they abolished imprisonment for debt. That was a hundred years ago, and certainly England and the Empire at large have modified their former methods of dealing with the unfortunate debtor.

Brougham's eloquence, enforced by Dickens' exposures of the horrors of the Fleet and Marshalsea, have done something towards more civilized procedure. No longer does a Chancery prisoner linger for twenty years in an English bastille, and die in prison of a broken heart, and the Wilkins Micawber of today can walk in the streets without fear of a surprise arrest. "Nevertheless," says Judge Parry, "we could not bring ourselves to abolish imprisonment for debt altogether. Our national habit of compromise asserted itself, and we abolished it for the well-to-do but retained it for the poor. In Lancashire orders for imprisonment for debt are called by the man in the street "body warrants," which is an accurate legal terminology. A small debtor mortgages his body when he borrows a small sum from a money-lender, or purchases a shoddy watch on the instalment plan. A well-to-do debtor who owes his tens of thousands laughs at his creditors and walks through the golden gates of bankruptcy to seek fresh flats and fortunes new."

It has been asserted that Englishmen are not imprisoned for debt today, but for contempt of court for not obeying the order of the court. This is a fallacy. If a creditor goes into an English County Court and proves that his debtor has had some money since judgment was obtained against him, then the Court sends the debtor to prison. This is imprisonment for debt and nothing else. The debtor, if he cannot find the money, goes to jail and is kept at the expense of the taxpayer. The creditor does not get his money, but he has the satisfaction of locking up the man who is in his debt. Now, commercially, that does not sound a very useful proposition, but in practice imprisonment for debt is used to put the screw on the improvident debtor, and by means of threats of imprisonment to get money out of him that ought to be spent on food for his dependents, or to blackmail his friends and relations into subscribing enough to keep him out of jail. "This barbarous system of debt-collecting is a real survival of the ancient right of the creditor to take the body of his creditor in execution for his debt," says the judge.

The money-lender who lends money at enormous interest, despite legal obstacles, could scarce continue without imprisonment for debt. He may lend money to a clerk or anybody in respectable employment. The instalments may fall into arrears, a summons issues, and the debtor has to consent to judgment. Principal, interest, costs and fees are now to be paid at so much a month. The money is not forthcoming. A judgment summons issues demanding his imprisonment. The wretched debtor must now get leave from his employer to come to court to make some arangement with his creditor. In some way he must prevent the exposure. Perhaps his friends help, or a new promissory note is signed with some luckless comrade as security, and a new and vicious circle of debt is entered upon. By means of imprisonment for debt the money shark has scored. "The hatefulness and iniquity of a law that takes the side of the knave against the fool, and encourages improvidence and the breaking up of the home, has been recognized by legal reformers of all ages," aserts Judge Parry. "Friends of the system will draw a pathetic picture of a working man out of work unable to get necessary food on credit because there is no imprisonment for debt. I believe in reasonable credit. But what is really meant by 'giving credit'? A sound tradesman gives credit to a man for two reasons: either because he has property or has a character for honesty. With imprisonment for debt credit is given recklessly, and the honest man has to pay for the defalcations of the dishonest debtor. England is almost the only country in Europe that retains this relic of barbarism, and we retain it in the face of the disapprobation of the wisest of our jurists. In the corners of the cupboards of the law there are still skeletons that our ancestors have left behind them, which other nations have cleared away as insanitary. Imprisonment for debt is one of these."

FALL OF 20,000 FEET MADE WITH PARACHUTE

PARIS, July 27.—Dropping 20,000 feet from a falling plane and yet living to tell the tale, is the experience with which the French pilot, Emile Van Laere, is credited.

An aeroplane, which he was testing near Beaumont Sur Oise began to fall from a height of 7,000 metres, it is said. The parachute did not open until he was a thousand feet from the ground. Although somewhat stunned from his rapid descent, Van Laere was uninjured.

GARDENING

Today I have been gardening out in the sun and wind and, ah—I could not choose but sing, the whole world seemed so kind! All day I have been planting seeds in ordered row on row; old Earth, wise mother, knows their needs and she will make them grow. And, strangely, as through sun and wind about my task I went, God planted in my eager mind the seeds of sweet content. The little seeds of happy thought, of hope and love and trust that by some miracle are brought to blossom from life's dust. Was it the work of sun or sky, or balmy air's embrace? I only know as day went by joy's harvest waxed apace. Today I have been gardening out in the golden air, and, ah, what lovely fancies spring to sudden blossoming there!

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

There are more motor cars in proportion to the total population in the United States than in any other part of the world, and the ratio of motor cars to the population of Canada cannot be more than a decimal or two lower than it is in the United States. The statisticians who reduce everything to a common denominator, or do something with figures that is equally mystifying to us, declare that there is one motor car in the United States for a given fraction of the population. Someone who is either interested in motor cars or in the sale of motor cars declares that complete happiness will never be run down and captured by all the people of the United States until there is at least two motor cars in every American family. When that day of bliss arrives we predict that the people of Canada will not be very far behind—not more than a decimal or two at the most—the people of the United States.

* * *

Even at the present time the motor car is very prevalent in Victoria—it is so prevalent that as we traverse the streets sometimes we are thankful that we are still in possession of at least a portion of our natural physical and mental faculties. As it is we frequently have to step quickly and dodge opportunely in order to avoid being run down and over. And we never cunningly secure possession of the fraction of a motor car that runs in the family and take a whirl through the country without wondering what will happen to us and that fraction of a car before we get back to the garage. For every other driver of a car seems to assume that the driver of the other motor car (if we make ourselves clear) is exercising the vigilance that is the price of safety. So we have pondered the conditions over very carefully and decided that when the time comes for every family in Victoria to have at least two motor cars we shall surrender our fraction of a motor car to some person who is willing to take a chance "and the devil take the hindmost." But perhaps a majority of the people may be flying through the air instead of over the surface of the earth before that time arrives.

* * *

Now in this matter our mental condition must not be misunderstood. We do not deprecate the motor car. We appreciate the motor car and all it has done for Victoria. Take a walk (if you do not prefer riding in a motor car instead) up Yates Street and note what a change the advent of the motor car has made in that thoroughfare. A few years ago it was a long and broad expanse of desolation. The motor car has invaded it and made it its chief place of business. Its once vacant lots are occupied by attractive and spacious buildings. Additional buildings, equally attractive and even more spacious, are being erected. The whole street from Douglas to Cook is redolent of gasoline, oil and rubber. Furthermore, the motor car business is expanding across the way to View Street and Fort Street. And if the motor car can transform Fort Street from what it has been for half a century or so, a down-at-the-heel and disreputable looking main thoroughfare in a city in every other part quite respectable in appearance, then we extend a glad hand to the motor car and hail it as a public benefactor.

* * *

We have met and talked with several people who look upon the motor car with apprehension and speak of it with reprehension. Those people have told us that the motor car is bad for business and that if what they call the craze for it persists it will ruin the country. They say that most of the people who are driving motor cars cannot afford such luxuries; that the money which should be spent upon other things is all being wasted upon motor cars, and consequently general business is in a languishing state.

* * *

And yet Victorians are not the only people in Canada who are spending their money on motor cars. The farmers of Canade are just as anxious to possess motor cars as the people of the cities. The farmers have got cars, too, and maintain that cars multiply their enjoyments and facilitate their business. And the general business of Canada does not appear to be languishing, for prosperity abounds from one end of the country to the other and the prospects for the future are brighter than ever they were. The deposits in the savings bank are increasing and wealth in general is accumulating.

* * *

Possibly it would be better and safer for everybody in Canada and in some other countries if the motor car driver would be content to drive at a slower and saner rate. It certainly would be more tolerable for some people if there were fewer accidents—if as a matter of courtesy we may be permitted to call the tragedies that are of daily occurrence accidents. But the motor cars are here, and we cannot do business nor enjoy ourselves without them. We wish them and their drivers luck, and hope to live to see the day when there will be two or more of them in every family, if that is the only way of maintaining peace in the family. In the meantime we are very well content with the somewhat nebulous ownership of the fraction of a flivver.

A man in a tram car wanted to get out, so he stood up and gave the bell cord a tremendous jerk.

"Not quite so hard, please," said the indignant conductor. "You're ringing the bell at both ends of the car."

"Well, I want both ends of the car to stop," replied the passenger.

BRITISH DOCTORS FOR VIVISECTION

BETTER TO EXPERIMENT ON ANIMALS THAN ON THEIR PATIENTS IS SUGGESTION

Restrictions on Research Will Be Detrimental to Public Health, Is Argument

LONDON—(By mail)—A conference or representatives of medical and scientific bodies was held at the British Medical Association House, Tavistock Square, W.C., in order to inform the public of the importance of experimental work on dogs and to demonstrate the solidarity of the profession in the matter. R. G. Hogarth, president of the British Medical Association, presided. The speakers dealt with the question from the points of view of the physcian, the surgeon, the psychiatrist, the researcher, the veterinarian, and the general practitioner.

The following resolutions were unanimously passed:

"(I.) That this conference, believing that any withdrawal or curtailment of the powers at present granted under licence and inspection will hinder medical research to the detriment of the health and well-being of the community, wishes to enter a strong protest against any bill which has for its object further restrictions upon experimental work on dogs or other animals.

"(II.) That this conference is of opinion that the existing law should be altered so as to permit, under proper provision for the prevention of pain and for efficient inspection and control, the use, for purposes of research, of some of the numerous stray and unknown dogs now taken up by the police and condemned to the lethal chamber, thus insuring conditions which are essential to progress in physiological knowledge and to the application of this knowledge to the practice of medicine.

"(III.) That copies of the above resolutions be sent to the Prime Minister and to the Home Secretary, together with a note of the names of those present at the conference and of the bodies they severally represent."

The chairman said that he doubted whether five per cent of the million signatories who were said to have signed a petition praying that the use of dogs for experimental purposes might be prohibited by law were aware of the humane conditions under which experiments were carried out. The overwhelming weight of expert scientific opinion laid stress on the special experimental value of the dog because of the near analogy of its form and digestive processes to those of the human being. When he considered at how cheap and low a rate even human life was commonly valued, he was amazed at the fluent tears and hysterical emotion of those who supported the Dogs Protection Bill. He hoped that that meeting, representative both of science and medicine, would impress on Parliament the duty of yielding nothing to that illogical, ill-balanced, and mischievous and dangerous clamor. Let the public trust the scientists, and trust them fully. It was not from science that they need apprehend cruelty to man or dog, but from ignorance steeped in sentimentality, lacking in vision, proportion, and self-control. (Cheers.)

LORD DAWSON'S APPEAL

Lord Dawson of Penn., speaking from the physician's point of view said that it would be common ground that doctors were humane. It was part of their very make-up—one of the greatest of their traditions. Was it likely that men who were thus trained to care for human suffering would be drawn into any methods which were cruel and inconsiderate? However they approached the matter, they came up against the question—was it ethically justifiable to make use of animals for man's purposes? Were they justified in using them for food or as beasts of burden? Surely the answer to the ethical question was that such use was justifiable provided that the end in view was sufficiently beneficial to mankind. Was not the alleviation of pain and distress and suffering to be witnessed day by day in the hospitals sufficient reason for the use of animals for experimentation? As a profession they said, with a full sense of responsibility, that without experimentation with animals the medical profession could not carry on, and they asked once and for all that those of their colleagues who pursued knowledge in the laboratories with singleness of purpose and very little material reward should be left undisturbed, and that this constant harassing of them should be stopped.

If the public took the responsibility of saying that experimentation was not justifiable, the responsibility was theirs and the implications that followed it. Once the public understood what those implications were they would not be long in withdrawing their support from those who wished to prevent experimentation. The discovery of insulin was one of the crowning successes of years of investigation. Were the public prepared to say that experimentation must be stopped? What about diseases of the spleen, the causes of jaundice, and the formation of gall stones, all of which had been dealt with by experiments on animals? Take, again, typhoid, lockjaw, diphtheria. Was work in connection with those to be stopped? Then there were new drugs. The dangers of childbirth had been diminished by a new drug which was tested on animals. Were they to be tested on the wives and daughters of the public? The public had to decide, and they had decided that experimentation on animals was right. The question of whether a dog, or some other animal, was necessary or not was one which could be settled by nobody but experts.

SURGEONS NOT CRIMINALS

Sir Holburt Waring dealt with the question from the surgeon's point of view, and asked whether the promoters of the Dogs Bill would prefer that the surgical profession should make their experiments on their patients in order to make the necessary advance in surgery which they thought was possible.

I was far more humane to use dogs for the purpose. He protested against the attitude of certain people, who looked upon surgeons as criminals, or potential criminals, and declared that the supervision of experimental work was effectively carried on.

Professor G. M. Robertson, Edinburgh, who spoke as a psychiatrist, said that progress at present was already greatly hindered by the difficulty of obtaining dogs for laboratory work.

Sir Thomas Lewis said that much had been made of the large number of dogs killed at University College. Their use at that centre of research work had been exceptional because it had been the chief in this country to study problems relating to the circulation and because for those problems the dogs were by far the most suitable animals that could be obtained.

Lieutenant-Colonel J. W. Brittlebank, president of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons, assured the medical profession of the support of his profession in their efforts to combat a mischievous agitation.

VICTORIA PLANS TO ATTRACT REALTORS TO PAY VISIT HERE

The local Real Estate Board is not going to let the opportunity go by for getting a due share of publicity for this city as a result of the visit to Seattle of the National Real Estate Association convention of the United States, which will meet there beginning August 10. Mr. J. H. Findler, who represents the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau in Seattle this year, has been to Victoria for the purpose of conferring with the Bureau, and with the Real Estate Board here upon the plans for getting the fullest benefits from the convention.

A special committee of the Real Estate Board consisting of Messrs. Fred Landsberg, David Leeming, Alfred Carmichael and H. Lethaby conferred with Mr. Findler. They met with the Bureau's representative, and plans were laid for a very complete system of publicity. Accordingly, Mr. Findler has taken a supply of literature with him to Seattle and will see that the visitors who will come from all parts of the United States are made aware of the attractions of Victoria. He will have a booth at the convention where all the information may be obtained.

Already a number of the delegations from different parts of the country have signified their intention of visiting Victoria.

ANOTHER AVIATOR TO TRY WESTWARD FLIGHT

DUBLIN, July 27.—F. F. Minchin, of the British Imperial Airways, and Leslie Hamilton, British air-taxi owner, who are preparing for a transatlantic flight, flew from Dublin to Clifden, Galway, to pick out a definite point for their hop-off.

They hope to leave about the middle of August in a Fokker monoplane. The latest statement of the flyers' plans show that their first objective will be Ottawa, whence they will fly to London, Ont., and then back to London, Eng., their desire being to win the $25,000 offered for that feat.

VANCOUVER FIREMEN APPLY TO DOMINION

VANCOUVER, July 27.—Formal application for a Dominion conciliation board under the Industrial Disputes Act to settle Vancouver firemen's claims for higher wages will be made by the men's union, according to the secretary, Charles Watson.

FURTHER SUMS AID HOME ECONOMICS

More Subscriptions Received by Local Council of Women for University Chair Endowment

At a meeting of the Home Economics committee of the Local Council of Women held recently at the home of Miss Crease, the following sums of money towards the endowment fund for the chair of Home Economics in the University of British Columbia were acknowledged: Quadra P.-T. A., $25 (this being the balance of the $100 objective undertaken by the Quadra P. T. A.); Victoria West Parent Teachers Association, $50 (also balance on $100); Sir James Douglas P. T. A., $75 (also balance on $100); Home Economics Classes in the City Schools, $104.30. The Margaret Jenkins School P. T. A., previously acknowledged, together with the P. T. A. of the Quadra, Victoria West, Sir James Douglas, and the Home Economics classes of the city schools have thus qualified and will be placed upon the honor roll to be kept at the University of British Columbia for all time.

A further donation of $10 was also received from the Ladies' Aid of the Centenial United church. The activities of the committee are temporarily suspended during the holidays, though interest will be kept alive through a lecture to be given on Friday afternoon at the High School by Miss Locke, of Columbia University, New York, who is lecturer on Home Economics at the Victoria Summer school. To this lecture, which will be given at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, all interested in the subject of Home Economics are invited.

DANGER LURKS IN DARKNESS

Your Better Judgment
Would Never Lead You Into This!
Picture the situation! Out on the lake, black clouds rolling up, thunder rumbling—the engine stops, the boat drifts with the wind—rocks ahead. You fumble around the engine, trying the while to soothe the fears of the party. What would you pay at that moment for an Eveready Flashlight?
Don't Take the Chance!
Danger lurks in darkness. Go now, while the impulse is fresh in your mind, and buy one or more dependable, safe, easily carried Eveready Flashlights.
You will never regret your investment in safety. Eveready Flashlights are the handiest form of light for use in motor boats. They contain a flood of light ready to be released by the pressure of your thumb. No open flame to ignite gasoline or oil. They won't blow out in the wind nor snuff out in rain.
The Eveready spotlights have a range from 200 feet to 1,000 feet. Just what you need for picking up buoys and landing places. They will guide you safely through shoals and dangerous waters, too.
The cost is little—the safety worth many times the price. To think of safe motor boating is to think of Eveready Flashlights. No motor boat is complete without one.
Electrical, hardware, sporting goods, drug stores, general stores, auto supply stores and garages everywhere sell Eveready Flashlights, batteries and lamps.

NOTED EXPERT TO JUDGE JERSEYS

Mr. R. L. Burkhart, of Albany, Ore., Will Examine Stock at the Provincial Exhibition

GOAT AND RABBIT BUILDINGS LARGER

Robert L. Burkhart, of Maple Lawn Place, Albany, Ore., has been secured as judge of Jersey cattle for the Provincial Exhibition at the Willows from August 22 to 27, Mr. W. H. Mearns, secretary, announced yesterday. The announcement will be received with satisfaction by exhibitors in this class as Mr. Burkhart is recognized as an outstainding expert. He has only recently returned from a visit to the Channel Islands, the home of the Jerseys.

Friday,—Mr. Mearns returned from Chilliwack where he secured entries for a carload of cattle to add to the already fine entry. The stock parade this year he believes will be right up to the standard of the best year since the Provincial Exhibition has been held in Victoria.

In spite of rearrangements of the others buildings in the Exhibition Grounds, it will be impossible to accommodate all the exhibitors and concessions, he reports. The goat and rabbit buildings have been enlarged. Changes have been made in other buildings to provide greater exhibiting space, but still have applications which have to be refused.

With entries heavy in every class and many fine amusement attractions on the skidway, the Fair management is hopeful that the Fair this year will draw an attendance greater than that of any previous year.

Public Meeting Called to Hear Elevator Views

THE Chamber of Commerce has called a public meeting for next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the auditorium in the Arcade Building, when Mayor J. Carl Pendray and members of the City Council will lay before the public their views on the Grain Elevator By-Law which is to be voted upon on August 4. Mr. C. P. W. Schwengers, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will be chairman.

But seven days remain in which ratepayers will be able to acquaint themselves with the by-law. Voting will take place at the Public Market building from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Mr. Frank Hunter, city clerk, will be the returning officer.

Obituary

SHADDICK—The funeral of Mrs. Irene Ethel Shaddick, who died at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, took place yesterday afternoon from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Messrs. D. Pendault, F. Mould, J. Pednault, F. C. Jones, R. Burnett and E. Wiggs acted as pallbearers. The service was conducted by Rev. J. S. Patterson. Interment was made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

THORLEY—The death took place Tuesday afternoon at the Royal Jubilee Hospital of James Thorley, husband of Mrs. Violet Lilly Thorley, aged forty-two years. He was born in Shropshire, England, and had been a resident of Colquitz for ten years. Mr. Thorley is survived by his wife at home, his father, one brother in England, one brother, Thomas Thorley, of Vancouver, and a sister in Sydney, Australia. The body is at the Sands Funeral Chapel, and on Saturday, July 30, the cortege will leave the chapel at 1:30 o'clock, and thirty minutes later services will be conducted at St. Michael's Church by Rev. A. L. Nixon. Interment will be made in St. Michael's Cemetery, Royal Oak.

BUCKETT—The funeral of William James Buckett, who died at the family residence, 1218 Farfield Road, Tuesday, will take place this afternoon. Funeral service will be held at the Thomson Funeral Home, 1625 Quadra Street, at 2:30 o'clock. Burial will take place in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery. Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick, M.A., rector of St. John's Church, will officiate.

ROUSHORN—The body of Mrs. Alice Roushorn was forwarded yesterday afternoon by Hayward's B.C. Funeral Co. to Watrous, Sask., for interment.

MILLS—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Mills took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of B. C. Richards, 1000 Craigdarroch Road, where service was conducted by Rev. J. P. Westman. Mr. E. Parsons presided at the piano. Interment was made in Ross Bay cemetery. The following acted as pall bearers: Messrs. Frank H. Davey, Herbert W. Davey, C. B. Deaville, and Dr. B. C. Richards.

BURLEITH MANSIONS SOLD AT AUCTION

Mr. Max Lohbrunner, Local Contractor, Secures Former Lieutenant-Governor's Residence

Burleith Mansions, formerly the home of the late Hon. James Dunsmuir, one-time Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, was disposed of yesterday, at public auction, to Mr. Max Lohbrunner, of 1245 Dominion Road.

This extensive property, which includes the large residential building and nearly an acre of ground, was sold under instructions of Mr. F. Landsberg, of the Empire Realty Company, for the owner, who is living in California. Messrs. Stewart Williams & Company conducted the auction.

Burleith Mansions is just off Craigflower Road, and before and during the war was leased at various times as a private social club, the spacious reception rooms and ballroom lending themselves admirably to such purposes. Although the building is not in a state of good repair at the present time, it could be brought completely up to date by an expenditure of about $5,000, which would make it one of the biggest residential buildings in the city. There is a large entrance hall, dining room finished in hand-carved oak and birdseye maple, and drawing rooms, ballroom, library and study, all panelled in cedar. There are ten bedrooms, three bathrooms, a kitchen, and the usual other offices, and also, in the basement, a hot-water heating plant.

The purchaser, Mr. Lohbrunner, is a well-known contractor and builder of the city.

Prairie Farmers Propose to Enter Wholesale Trade

SASKATOON, July 27.—The managers of the Agricultural Co-operative Association, meeting here yesterday, passed a resolution favoring the formation of an interprovincial co-operative wholesale society taking over the trading department of the United Farmers of Canada. A committee was named to negotiate toward this and with the U.T.C. to prepare the necessary agreement to bring the new arrangement into effect, and the committee was further given power to procure such legislation as may be necessary in the matter.

MR. BRUCE'S BODY FOUND IN WATER

Mystery Connected With Disappearance of Esquimalt Man Is Cleared Up by Locating of Remains

ACCIDENT BLAMED ON DEFECTIVE SIGHT

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Mr. Alexander Bruce, of 481 Head Street, was cleared up yesterday in the finding of the body floating among the kelp in Lugrin Bay off Macauley Point. Mr. Bruce, whose eyesight was somewhat defective, disappeared from his home on July 4. He had set out with an axe for the purpose of getting some driftwood for the purpose of making trellising for loganberry bushes.

Since that time a careful search has been prosecuted, especially along the beaches and in the water, but without avail until yesterday, when a boy of fifteen, Reginald Gray, noticed the body from the position that he occupied on the rocks. He at once gave the information to the police of Esquimalt, who in turn notified the relatives, and the recovery of the body was effected.

Mr. D. Pephson, a brother-in-law of Mr. Bruce, procured a boat and rowed to the body accompanied by Mrs. Bass, a sister-in-law. Together they towed the body to shore at Jardine Bay, where it was identified as that of the missing man.

A reward of $50 had been offered by the municipality for the recovery of the body, which will be paid to the boy who located it in the water.

He had been employed at Work Point Barracks and the finding of the body bears put the opinion that has been entertained with respect to his death, which was that he had made a mistake through his defective sight and fallen into the water.

The body was taken to the Sands Undertaking Parlors, from whence the funeral will be held on Friday at 2 o'clock. An inquest will be held at a time to be arranged by the coroner later.

OLD SCHOOLMATES OF ST. ANN'S MEET

Tenth Annual Reunion, Held Yesterday, Brings Happy Gathering of Old Academy Pupils

Numerous old friendships were renewed and pleasant incidents of an older generation of St. Ann's Academy girls rehearsed at the tenth annual gathering yesterday of former pupils of the venerable institution. The social part of the proceedings consisted of a musical programme and tea served in the gymnasium, and during which former pupils and the Sisters of St. Ann mingled informally. This was followed by Benediction in the Academy chapel, for which many of the guests remained. The singing by the Sisters' Choir was a beautiful feature of this service, being led by Sister Mary Patricia, who in her voice perpetuates the gifts of her father, Mr. Charles Lombard, formerly thirty years director of St. Andrew's Cathedral Choir.

About two hundred former pupils of St. Ann's attended, guests continuing to arrive until nearly 5:30. The gymnasium, where the social part of the programme took place, was attractively decorated with masses of helenium, and individual table vases held marigold and gypsofila.

Among the seniors of the former pupils were Mrs. R. B. McMicking and Sister Mary Catherine, in the 'sixties known to St. Ann's as "those mischievous girls." Other pupils of a slightly later day included Mrs. Edward McQuade, Mrs. O'Brien, Miss Mary Stewart, librarian at the Victoria Public Library; Mrs. Frank Sehl and Mrs. Stanton; also Sisters Mary Theodore, Margaret and Octavia, who were busily occupied all afternoon meeting and bidding adieu to former schoolmates and pupils. Sister Mary Theodore convened the affair.

THE PROGRAMME

The musical programme opened with the singing by the entire gathering of "The Stream of Memory," the words of which were written by one of the old pupils of St. Ann's. There followed solos and recitations, Mrs. McIntyre's two songs, "Mavourneen" and "Laddie Boy," which she recently broadcast from Vancouver. Miss Lillian Wilkinson sang "Love Came to Me in a Garden," Miss Kathleen Redgrave "The Open Secret" and "Trees," Miss Dorothy Hartree "The Arrow and the Song," and there was a recitation, "Little and Good," by Miss Ethel Bale, who also read a paper entitled "British Columbia's Confederation Retrospect." Another paper touching on a similar subject was read by Miss Phyllis Dalziel, "The U.S.A.'s Confederation Tribute." Miss Hilda Harding played a Mendelssohn number on the piano, which was greatly enjoyed, and the sentiment of association found suitable expression in an adaptation of "Auld Lang Syne," during which the entire gathering joined hands.

While at present the major interest in these reunions revolves round those who were pupils of St. Ann's in the early days, the younger graduates are giving the effort splendid support, and were present in large numbers yesterday. There were several small babies among the guests also.

The music sung at Benediction included Cyrillo's "O Salutaris," Haydn's "Salve Regina," Silas' "Tantum Ergo," Houghier's "Divine Praises," Malvil's "Laudate Dominum" and the "Hymn to St. Ann."

Provincial Court

John Profit, of Deep Cove, was arraigned in the Provincial Court yesterday to face a charge of unlawfully supplying on July 15, liquor to a minor. He pleaded not guilty. Four witnesses testified for the prosecution, while the accused took the witness stand in his own defence. Magistrate Jay found the accused guilty, and imposed a fine of $300, which was paid. Mr. R. H. Pooley, M.P.P., appeared as counsel for the defence, while Corporal Harvey conducted the prosecution.

Saanich Social Club Has Successful Year

The report of the directorate of the North Saanich Social Club shows that this organization has had a most successful first year since incorporation. Among the most important activities of the year was the enlargement of the club premises with the aid of the free labor of members. Concentration on this had somewhat hampered other of the club's activities, but supplemental reports of the various committees foreshadow a coming year of increased activity in all lines.

The biographer was collecting information from the most intimate friend of the dead celebrity.

"And what were his last words?" asked the biographer.

"He said no last words," replied the friend. "His devoted wife was with him to the end."

QUEEN MARIE WILL AGAIN VISIT U.S.

BUCHAREST, July 27.—Queen Marie has decided to visit the United States again. She hopes to start soon after the period of mourning for King Ferdinand is over, she told the correspondent for the Associated Press today.

The Queen also told the correspondent that she hoped to find time to write a book of her impressions of the United States and the American people. "I carried back a thousand pleasant memories of my stay in your country," said the Queen, "but there were also some mistakes which can be rectified on the next trip."

ARTIST WHO INITIATED CAMOUFLAGE IS DEAD

LONDON, July 27.—Solomon Joseph Solomon, noted British artist, who called attention to the need of camouflage in modern warfare and initiated it in the British army at the outbreak of the world war, died in London today. He was born here sixty-seven years ago. Among his many works are the decorations in the Royal Exchange and the Houses of Parliament.

"But surely," Jones urged, "seeing is believing."

"Not necessarily," replied Johnson. "For instance, I see you every day."

Teachers Make Valedictory Gift to Mr. H. J. Pollard, School Supervisor of Singing

Teachers to the number of thirty, representing practically all the elementary schools of the city, and including nearly all the principals, met at the Japanese tea gardens in the Gorge Park Tuesday afternoon of this week. The object of the gathering was to bid farewell to Mr. H. J. Pollard, late supervisor of singing in the public schools of this city, who is returning to England in the near future.

Afternoon tea was served at one of the large tables in the garden.

Mr. J. M. Campbell, president of the Victoria Teachers' Association, acted as chairman, and on behalf of the local teachers' association presented Mr. Pollard with a pair of prismatic binoculars. Mr. Campbell spoke of the good work done by Mr. Pollard during the nineteen years he had been music instructor in the schools of the city, and of his loyal co-operation in all good work, both as a teacher and as a citizen.

Mr. Pollard in replying spoke feelingly of his long association with the teachers and pupils in the work of the schools. He said that he would carry away with him many pleasant memories of the work accomplished and of the many good friends he had made while here.

After the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," by all present, the teachers gathered about Mr. Pollard to bid him good-bye and wish him every good in the coming years.

MEN COME TO OTTAWA FROM VARIED LANDS

ium was occupied when Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, as honorary chairman, opened the proceedings. On behalf of the British Empire, His Excellency, the Governor-General, Viscount Willingdon, heartily welcomed the international and Canadian delegates. Premier Mackenzie King greeted the visitors on behalf of the Canadian people and a civic welcome was then extended by Mayor John Balharrie, of Ottawa.

Mr. Edward Brown, of London, Eng., congress chairman, briefly responded to the welcome extended. For the delegates from forty-two States in the American Union, Hon. William Phillips, United States Minister, expressed his deep appreciation for the efforts by the Canadian Government towards the comfort and happiness of his compatriots.

Forty-two countries were officially represented. Nearly 5,000 people, including delegates and members from five continents, were present. Some forty-two States of the American Union were represented, while all the Provinces in Canada had delegates on hand.

U.S. MINISTER SPEAKS

OTTAWA, July 27.—"The hospitality of Canadians is proverbial, yet all of us Americans who are present are filled with admiration at the efficiency and thoughtfulness of all those who have organized this great international gathering," said Hon. William Phillips, United States minister, in responding on behalf of his compatriots to the welcome extended to the world's poultry congress which opened here today.

"May I tender through you to the Dominion Government, to the officers of the congress, and to the hospitable citizens of Ottawa, who are contributing so much to the success of this meeting," continued Mr. Phillips, "the warm appreciation and grateful thanks of those thousands of Americans, many of whom are visiting the Dominion for the first time."

The United States delegates had come to exchange ideas with the poultry experts of the world, and in so doing to bring benefits to the poultry industry of their country. The American representatives were filled with admiration, Mr. Phillips said, of the outstanding assistance which the Dominion Department of Agriculture had rendered to the poultry industry of Canada. The record of performance and registration work had been another important contribution of the Dominion Government and a number of States in the United States had already introduced the system of record of performance. The accomplishments of the Canadian Government in this respect were, therefore, of vital concern to the advancement of the record of performance work in the United States.

"Adams Across Canada" Here—A party of twenty-six persons, known as the "Adams Across Canada tour," is registered at the Dominion Hotel.

St. Mark's Picnic—A successful picnic, held under the auspices of St. Mark's Church, Cloverdale, was held at Hamsterley Lakeside yesterday.

Prarie Motorists—Tourists from Alberta are now arriving here in increasing numbers having driven to the Coast over the all-Canadian route through the Rockies.

Police Commission—The City Police Commission will convene in business session this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the office of Chief of Police John Fry, at the Police Station, Fisgard Street.

Change of Plans—The joint picnic of the South Saanich Farmers' and Women's Institutes will be held on Saturday afternoon and evening to Sidney Experimental Farm, in place of the proposed excursion to Roche Harbor, which has been cancelled.

Sailors' Sports—The entertainment committee of the City Council is arranging to take the sailors of H.M.S. Colombo for a drive to Elk Lake next Wednesday, where a picnic will be held and a sports programme run off. The day's entertainment will conclude with a dance.

Guards Invited—Mayor J. Carl Pendray sent a wire to the Agent-General in London extending an invitation on behalf of the citizens of Victoria to the two battalions of the King's Guards now stationed at Shanghai to visit this city for a week or ten days if they should return to England by way of Canada.

Retailers' Meeting—A meeting of the retailers' section of the Chamber of Commerce will be held in the reading room of the Chamber of Commerce at 10:45 o'clock Friday morning, when Mr. C. P. W. Schwengers and a member of the City Council will place before the members full details of the grain elevator by-law.

Federal Minister Expected—Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Health and of Soldiers' Civil Reestablishment, will reach this city on Monday, according to information received here. He will hold conferences with the members of the local Government on matters outstanding between the two Governments and on other matters while in the city.

Rotary Session—"Both Sides of the Question of Price Fixing" will be the subject of an address at today's Rotary Club luncheon, at noon, in the Empress Hotel ballroom, by Rotarian John Wood, under the auspices of the business methods committee of the Club. Following the discourse, an open forum on the topic wil likely be conducted. The acquaintance committee, directed by Rotarian Jimmy Macfarlane, is scheduled to present a stunt during the luncheon.

Free Lecture—A free lecture will be given tomorrow afternoon at Victoria High School by Miss Lilian Locke, A. M., instructor in Household Arts, Columbia University, New York. The subject will be: "Clothing: an Asset or a Liability." This will be illustrated with living model. The lecture will be under the auspices of the Summer School for teachers, in the interests of the Endowment Fund of the Chair of Economics for the University of British Columbia.

Premier Bracken Coming—Hon. John Bracken, Premier of Manitoba, is expected to arrive in the city this morning. He will confer with the acting Premier Hon. J. D. MacLean, and with the Liquor Control Board of the Province relative to the working of the beer clauses of the liquor business in British Columbia. Premier Bracken is investigating this aspect of the business in all the Provinces where beer is sold by the glass before bringing down legislation in Manitoba.

Registration of Harvesters—The Employment Bureau here will soon be seeking applications from those who wish to go to the Prairies in order to enter upon the work of harvesting. The harvest is somewhat later this year than is usual, and it is anticipated that there will not be as many helpers required, due to the fact that more immigrants have gone into the Prairies this season and will be available to help in the work. It is estimated that there are about 6,000 in British Columbia who would be available for this duty.

VANCOUVER ENTRY IS ELIGIBLE FOR PRIZE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Major Curzon C. Osborne, Vancouver, B.C., aviator who announced he intended hopping off from Vancouver for Honolulu, "although apparently ineligible" for the $35,000 Dole prize, will be within the rules of the "air Derby" if he starts anywhere on the North American continent, Dole representatives declared here today.

"He can start from Alaska if he wants to," the flight officials declared. "It will only be necessary that Major Osborne first file the entry blank and $100 fee with the flight committee here and then start not earlier than August 12 at noon."

BRITISH POLICY CLEARLY STATED

IN PARLIAMENT

LONDON, July 27. — Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Minister, making his eagerly-awaited statement in the House of Commons today on the tripartite naval conference at Geneva, said that British delegates were returning to Geneva today to continue the negotiations which it was trusted would reach a successful conclusion.

Sir Austen said that it would be improper at this stage to make any detailed explanation of the British proposals or those of the other interested powers.

"The statement I am going to read is therefore designed only to remove a misunderstanding which, if continued uncorrected, could not but impede the prospects of success," he said.

FORMAL STATEMENT

"Despite the efforts of our delegates at Geneva, serious misapprehensions of the aims of the British Government still prevail in some quarters," continued the Foreign Secretary. "His Majesty's Government even has been charged with the desire to destroy that equality of seapower as between the United States and the British Empire, which the Washington conference contemplated—a suspicion for which there is no foundation.

"The invitation of the President of the United States to take part in the disarmament conference was understood by His Majesty's Government to be based on the desire to develop the policy of the Washington conference by diminishing yet further labor and expenditure while maintaining national security.

"With this two-fold aim, His Majesty's Government is in complete agreement, and they desire to measure the merits of every proposal by the degree to which it furthers this two-fold purpose.

"It is with this principle that they propose to diminish the size and armament of battleships, but leaving unaltered the numbers fixed at Washington.

"It is for this reason also that they suggest limitation in the number and armament of large fighting cruisers on principles similar to those adopted at Washington for battleships.

"This proposal, like the first, would greatly diminish national expenditures without endangering national security.

SMALLER CRUISERS

"The questions connected with smaller cruisers are of a more complicated character. The strength of the battleships can be stated in figures and prepared with precision. Their primary function is to fight other fleets and, speaking broadly, they can easily be compared with each other. No such similar way of looking at the subject is possible in the case of small cruisers employed for police purposes in time of peace and necessary for the protection of lines of communication in time of war. Geographical consideration cannot be rationally ignored.

"It is to be noted that the sea routes on which Great Britain depends for existence lie largely in narrow waters bordered by other States. This is not the case with the United States, whose most important lines of communication lie either on land within her own frontiers, by sea along her own coasts, or in great oceans."

NOT TO RESTRICT U.S.

Sir Austen asserted that Britain was far from claiming the least right to dictate any smaller cruiser policy to other powers, but argued that anything resembling the permanent formula adopted at Washington for battleships was quite inapplicable for vessels designed for purposes which vary with the geographical and economic position of the powers concerned.

"It becomes more inapplicable when the strength is estimated in terms of gross tonnage without reference to numbers of armament," he said.

The Foreign Minister said that a country which for any reason was obliged to distribute its available tonnage among smaller units would probably be considered by naval experts to be at a permanent disadvantage compared with one able to adopt a different scheme. "There would be nominal parity," he asserted, "but real inequality."

TEMPORARY AGREEMENT

Sir Austen Chamberlain said that in the opinion of the Government there need be no difficulty in arriving at temporary arrangement regarding the immediate future of cruiser building.

Sir Austen added, however, that the British Empire could not be asked to give any such temporary arrangement the appearance of an immutable principle which might be treated as a precedent.

Answering a question regarding a statement said to have been widely repeated abroad, that 600,000 tons in cruisers were demanded by the chief British delegates at the beginning of the conference, Sir Austen said that W. C. Bridgeman, chief of the British delegation, had never mentioned the figure 600,000.

ONE WAY OR ANOTHER

LONDON, July 27.—W. C. Bridgeman, First Lord of the Admiralty, and Viscount Cecil left for Geneva this morning to take part in a resumption of the naval conference there. They had been in London a week, having come from Geneva to place before the Cabinet a report on the status of the naval parley and to receive further instructions for their continuance. Before entraining, Mr. Bridgeman said:

"We shall finish our work this time, one way or the other. We are going back after long discussions with the Cabinet, and I think the position is clear. The Government thoroughly discussed the whole situation, and the position of Great Britain remains fundamentally unchanged. I can only say I have just as good hopes for a settlement as when we came back."

Lord Cecil remarked:

"I am always hopeful, but I regard the position as unquestionably critical."

The delegates are due in Geneva at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

A helpful invention for short-sighted players.—Kasper, Stockholm.

SHRINERS GREET THEIR POTENTATE

Mr. C. M. Dunbar Is Visitor Here in Course of Extended Tour in United States and Canada

British Columbia Shriners gave a cordial welcome to their Imperial Potentate, Mr. Clarence M. Dunbar, during his brief visit yesterday. A number of Shriners came down from the Mainland to welcome him and escort him to Vancouver later. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jones at their Summer home near Sidney during the day.

Mr. Dunbar has been visiting the various temples of the Shrine since July 8, commencing at Providence, R.I., and will continue this tour until August 25. On that date he expects to reach Bangor, Maine.

The Imperial Potentate is working up interest in the next convention, which is set for Miami, Florida, in May, 1928.

The journalists are touring Canada as the British Newspaper Society and in many cases are accompanied by their families.

WOOD PRODUCTS OF WEST COAST MANY

Boxes and Crates, Telegraph Poles and Rolling Pins, Doors and Silos in List

SEATTLE, July 27.—Berry boxes and crates; cross arms for telegraph poles; rolling pins and silos; wood pipe staves and built-in cupboards—these are only a few of the thousands of products being manufactured every year from the four leading species of the West Coast, according to a survey of the forest and wood-using industries of the state, just completed by W. H. Gibbons, United States Forest Service, Portland, Oregon. The secondary woodworking industries of the state, says Mr. Gibbons, are using an approximate yearly total of 791,466,200 feet of West Coast lumber, making everything from fine millwork to an entire ready-cut house.

Of this amount 510,334,700 feet or sixty-four per cent is Douglas fir. A greater variety of uses is found for this species than for any of the others. Mr. Gibbons found in his survey that sixty-seven per cent of all Douglas fir used by the secondary industries is for sash, doors, plywood, and general millwork. Cross arms, wood pipe, tanks, silos, baskets and other fruit packages, ready-cut buildings, boxes, crates, and miscellaneous articles make up the remainder.

Ninety-seven per cent of the 206,119,000 feet of West Coast hemlock used by the secondary industries is for boxes and crates. The same use is made of seventy-four per cent of the 68,727,000 feet of Sitka spruce which is purchased every year by wood-working firms. Another eight per cent of this amount of Sitka spruce is for baskets and fruit packages, the remaining twelve per cent being utilized in miscellaneous manufacture.

Of the consumption of Western red cedar in secondary industries forty per cent of the total of 6,285,000 feet is for tanks and silos, twenty per cent for caskets and coffins, and 8.3 per cent for sash, doors and millwork.

FIREMEN ASK FOR IMPARTIAL JUDGE

VANCOUVER, July 27.—Formal application to the Federal Minister of Labor for the Arbitration Board is being prepared for filing by Vancouver Fire Fighters' Union, according to an announcement made tonight by Charles Watson, Secretary. The request for an independent body to settle the wage dispute with the city will be accompanied, he states, by a full statement of previous requests to the city to join in the application.

If the application is referred by the Minister to the Council for endorsation, Mr. Watson points out that the result of the city's consideration will determine the future policy of the Union.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

The woman who realizes the trimming value of many tiny buttons on a frock will be delighted with this navy crepe model shown above.

Deep inverted side pleats add smartness and easy walking width. The frock fastens all the way down the front, with small white pearl buttons placed very close together. The long sleeves repeat the treatment, with the flared portion above the cuffs left partially unbuttoned to reveal the white lining. Scallops done in white give added color contrast. Note the smart little felt hat with its two black cat silhouettes of doeskin.

MR. G. A. GRAVLIN ON VISIT HERE

San Francisco Golf Pro., Former Victoria Resident, Says California Boom Moving Northward

Mr. G. A. (Poke) Gravlin, of San Francisco, former resident of Victoria, arrived here yesterday on a month's visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Gravlin, 1937 Oak Bay Avenue, during which he will renew acquaintances here.

Mr. Gravlin is engaged as a golf professional in San Francisco, and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce in that city. He reports that conditions in the South are much quieter than was the case this time last year, and that the boom which prevailed in California is now gradually moving northward.

A well-known native son of Victoria, Mr. Gravlin participated in different branches of sport while he lived here. He was particularly prominent in baseball and hockey circles, and played with a number of local athletic teams.

PRODUCTION OF PIG IRON JUMPS

Great Britain Reports for May Show Highest Figure Since September, 1920

The production of pig iron in Great Britain during May amounted to 720,100 tons. This is the highest figure attained since September, 1920, and compares with 680,000 tons produced in April and 88,800 tons produced in May last year, which was the first month of the coal stoppage. According to advices just received by the Bankers Trust Company of New York from its British Information Service, although the production was the maximum attained since 1920, there was a net reduction of five in the number of blast furnaces in operation, the number falling from 189 to 184 in May. Since the beginning of June a few furnaces have ceased operation, indicating therefore that the production for May will be the maximum for some time to come.

Steel production in Great Britain in May totalled 884,600 tons. This is an increase over the previous month, when production amounted to 850,100 tons; while in May of 1926 production was only 45,700 tons.

Germany's production of both iron and steel, at 1,112,100 tons and 1,356,800 tons respectively, showed an increase above the production for April. This statement applies as well to each of the other countries for which statistics are given for May.

French pig iron production in May was 781,800 tons as compared with 761,800 in April; steel production was 700,800 tons in May as against 669,900 tons in April.

Belgian pig iron production totalled 314,000 tons in May and 305,100 tons in April; the number of furnaces in blast remaining at fifty-four. Steel production was 316,100 tons in May, against 296,400 tons in April.

TELEGRAPH WIRES IN CANADA ARE HUMMING

Manager F. H. Blashfield, of the Canadian National Telegraphs, has received the following report:

"The tendency to speed up business by the use of telegrams is indicated by a report on telegraphs by the Dominion statistician. More than 12,000,000 telegrams were sent in Canada last year, an increase of 762,404, or 6.6 per cent.

"The Canadian National Telegraphs handled 5,538,395 messages and the Canadian Pacific 5,162,551. The Western Union handled 779,188; Dominion Government (Public Works Department) 522,796; Temiskaming & Northern Ontario 130,770; North American Telegraph 42,228, and Marconi Wireless 23,234. The Canadian National received 2,000,000 from United States points and the Canadian Pacific 701,017. There were 107,970 radio messages sent and received between ships at sea and Canadian land stations."

Epidemics In India Worry State Roads

WINNIPEG, Man., July 26.—Men in India cause the State railways in that country plenty of worry during the cholera and malaria epidemics, according to Dr. T. H. Bishop, of Calcutta, who visited Winnipeg recently in the course of his first tour of the Dominion.

Dr. Bishop is one of the chief medical officers of the India State Railways.

Men have been known to disguise themselves as Purdah women in attempts to journey home while suffering from either cholera or malaria. Numerous other means of evading the medical authorities have been tried by the natives and often with disastrous results, Dr. Bishop stated.

Dr. Bishop cited last year as a case when evasion by the natives resulted in a malaria epidemic which proved so serious that it interfered with the operations of the trains as a large number of railway clerks were stricken with the disease.

NEWS OF THE SPORTING WORLD

Four Canadians Left In Quarter Finals of Championship Tennis

Wright, Nunns, Laframboise and Peers to Battle for Men's Single Title — Marjorie Leeming and Mona Miller in Women's Singles—Doreen Swayne Reaches Semi-Finals

VANCOUVER, July 27.—In Jack Wright, of Montreal; Gilbert Nunns, of Toronto; E. H. Laframboise, of Montreal, and Geoff Peers, of Vancouver, Canada has four worthy representatives left to fight out the eights here tomorrow in the Canadian tennis championships. Four Canadians are also left in the fourth round of the ladies' event, Marjorie Leeming, titleholder, of Victoria; Miss Mona Miller, of Victoria, and Miss Ellis and Miss Muriel Munro, both of Vancouver.

Leon De Turenne, of Seattle, the present champion, will be opposed by Gilbert Nunns, of Toronto, who scored a sensational victory over Sherman Lockwood, ranking California star; Bradshaw Harrison, of Berkeley, faces Laframboise; Wright tackles J. K. Ruscher, Pasadena; while John Risso, California, who was extended to beat A. S. Milne, of Vancouver, will oppose Peers, who has already disposed of Leroy Rennie, of Toronto.

Miss Leeming meets her hardest opponent of the week in Louise McFarland, junior champion of California; Carolyn Swartz, No. 5 in California, meets Miss Miller in the top half; while Edith Cross, No. 3 in California, should win easily over Miss Ellis, Vancouver City champion, the other bracket bringing together Miss Munro, who beat Miss Hope Leeming, of Victoria, and Marion Williams, champion of Southern California.

NUNNS BRILLIANT

The men's singles attracted the greatest interest during the day. In the feature event Nunns was never seen to better advantage than in his match against Lockwood. Nunns rated his man at his own game and literally volleyed and thundered his attack through his young opponent, who faltered once the Toronto man took the aggressive and lead. Nunns' play was masterly tennis and deserved the generous applause given him. The scores were: 6-2, 6-3.

Wally Martin, of Regina, extended Leon De Turenne to three sets to advance to the fifth round, the Saskatchewan champion carrying the attack to the very last game before Turenne won 6-4, 3-6, 7-5.

Harrison had his toughest match of the week against Dick Hoogs, also of Berkeley, the former winning in 7-5, 3-6 and 6-4.

Laframboise had an easy time with Woodall, taking straight sets.

Jack Wright, of Montreal, won from Amy Marion, of Seattle, 6-3 and 6-4.

The veteran Milne surprised the big gallery by taking a set from the flashy one-armed man, John Risso, the third set going to 7-5.

In the other half of the quarter bracket Peers had a good victory at the expense of Ossie Ryall, of New Westminster, B.C., 7-5 and 6-3.

LOCAL PAIR STRONG

Mixed doubles, ladies' events and junior men's singles occupied the greater part of the morning play, and several stiff engagements were witnessed. In the feature mixed event Hope Leeming and Eric McCallum, of Victoria, played brilliantly against their strong California opposition, Edith Cross and Stanley Almquist, who won by 8-6 and 10-8.

Games followed service much of the way, there being very little edge either way. Whenever the Californians were down a game, they usually came from behind to win by hard service.

Mrs. Fawcus, Vancouver, and Walter Gyles, of Winnipeg, advanced to the round before the semis by putting out Miss Jackson, of Victoria, and Howard Langlie, of Seattle, in two easy sets of 6-2, 6-2, while Miss O'Shea, of Vancouver, and Ketcham, Seattle, put another crack Californian, Risso, and Miss R. Pittock, of Portland, in the closest kind of match. Both sets went 7-5.

In another mixed event Mrs. Ross and Dixon, of Vancouver, managed to turn defeat into victory by conquering Miss Collinge, of Calgary, and Warren, of Seattle. The latter pair took the middle set and were point set in the third when the Vancouver pair picked up and ran out the set at 7-5.

Wally Martin, Central Ontario junior champion of this year, was in grand form in his match with Henry Culley, of Santa Barbara, in the junior men's singles, scoring a meritorious win in sets of 7-5 and 5-2. Martin used two services, varying his pace repeatedly. After the first set, he was in entire command.

STEVE JONES BEATEN

Vines, of California, favored by many to get through to the finals, had trouble with Porter, 180-pound youngster of Vancouver, taking two sets of 7-5, to win. Nordstrom, of Seattle, junior titleholder of that city, and P.N.W. finalist, managed to take Steve Jones, British Columbia junior champion, into camp in two sets of 6-4.

Miss V. O'Shea put up a game battle before going down to Miss Doreen Swayne, Victoria, in three hotly-fought sets, while Marie McNab, Vancouver City champion, stopped Miss R. Pittock, of Portland. A Victorian to be knocked out was Miss V. Rithet, who was defeated by Miss Griffiths, of Tacoma by 4-6, 6-2 and 6-2.

By her win over Miss J. Milne, of Vancouver, in straight sets, Miss Doreen Swayne, of Victoria, qualified for the semi-finals of the junior girls' championship. In this she will meet Miss Louise McFarland, of California, the junior national champion of the United States.

In the men's doubles Lewis and Hesketh took two sets to win from the Tatsuumas, of the University of Washington; the Hoogs brothers gave Waugh and Gyles, of Winnipeg, a severe trouncing, 6-1 and 6-2, while Allen and Ruscher, of California, won comfortably over a local team.

The results follow:

JUNIOR MEN'S SINGLES

Rhine, Portland, beat Williams, 6-4, 6-2.

Nanaimo Footballers Gain Big Lead Over Saskatoon

WINNIPEG, July 27.—Nanaimo, champions of British Columbia and conquerors of Alberta, tonight defeated Saskatoon Sons of England, Saskatchewan-Manitoba interprovincial titleholders, 5 to 2, in the first game of a two-game series in the semi-finals of the Dominion football championship. The second game will be played Friday, the winners of the series to play the Eastern Canada champions in the final here next week.

Played under ideal conditions, the Saskatoon squad established a 2-to-0 lead in the first half of the match, but Nanaimo, noted for surprise comebacks, played brilliantly and fought back valiantly until victory was assured.

WEATHER STOPS ENGLISH CRICKET

Six Matches Abandoned in Early Play—Sussex Scores 242 Against Surrey At Brighton

LONDON, July 27.—Inclement weather marred most of the cricket attractions in England today. Only in one match—Surrey vs. Sussex at Brighton—was any real progress possible. Sussex scored 242, to which Bowley contributed seventy-nine and Cook sixty-six. Allom, the Surrey bowler, took five wickets for 65 runs. Surrey had scored 77 for the loss of three wickets when stumps were drawn. The position of other games were:

Warwickshire vs. Middlesex at Coventry, no play.

Lancashire vs. Essex at Liverpool, Lancashire, 33 for one wicket, game abandoned.

Nottinghamshire vs. Worcestershire at Notts, Notts 11 runs for one wicket. Game abandoned.

Northamptonshire vs. Yorkshire at Northampton, Northampton 123 for eight wickets. Game abandoned.

Somerset vs. Glamorgan at Bath, Glamorgan 27 runs for two wickets. Game abandoned.

West of England vs. New Zealanders, at Exeter, no play.

Call Boy Sold For Sum of $300,000

LONDON, July 27.—Call Boy, winner of this year's Derby, says The Westminster Gazette, has been sold for £60,000 (about $300,000) to Sir Harry Mallaby Deeley. Sir Harry purchased Call Boy from the executors of his brother, the late Frank Curzon, to prevent the horse from leaving the country.

Radio Fans Must Pay If Fights to Be Broadcast

NEW YORK, July 27.—Tex Rickard is quoted in The Evening World today as saying that radio is driving away the purchasers of the cheaper seats at boxing shows and that if fights are to show a fair profit radio fans will have to submit to some sort of voluntary tax.

"Fifty million persons, it is estimated, got a word picture of the Dempsey-Sharkey fight," he said, "just as quickly as those seated in the Yankee Stadium and got something for nothing that the onlookers had to pay well for.

"I have an idea that if the immense radio public was appealed to, to donate anything they wished from 25c to $1 for the entertainment furnished they would be glad to contribute rather than have radio privileges denied them.

"I know this will raise an awful howl at first, but when they grasp what it really means, they will see the fairness of the idea. These donations could be divided in such a way that a percentage would go toward defraying the expense of staging the contest, and the balance toward improvements of the broadcasting arrangements so as to insure even further perfections to the advantages of the listeners-in.

"Candidly, I am afraid to admit, that unless fairer conditions are afforded at matches that will draw 100,000 or more, it will be impossible to promote such affairs without suffering financial loss under present abnormal conditions."

GOODSELL TRAINING HARD FOR BIG RACE

World's Professional Champion Will Defend Sculling Title at Vancouver Labor Day Against Barry

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 27.—Major Goodsell, world's professional sculling champion, who is to defend his title against Bert Barry, the English titleholder over the Port Moody course on Labor Day, has settled down to rigid training.

Goodsell is up each morning around six o'clock and takes a six to eight mile walk before breakfast. After being thoroughly attended by the masseur he takes breakfast and then goes for a spin on the water. His masseur works on him when he returns and he then has lunch.

The same programme is followed again in the afternoon and after dinner the champion indulges in a game of tennis prior to turning in for the night at 9:30.

Barry will find Goodsell in first class condition.

Lawn Bowling

On Saturday two teams of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club will go to Duncan to play there in the Greater Victoria League series. The local rinks will be skipped by T. McCosh and A. McKeachie.

On Saturday afternoon on the Beacon Hill greens, it is probable that some of the doubles games in the Wilkerson Shield competition will be played off. The teams left in the second round of this game are matched as follows:

D. Dewar and A. McKeachie vs. F. Moules and P. J. Byng.

A. Edwards and P. Handley or G. Greenhill and R. Dowswell vs. W. Little and A. Macaulay.

T. Mayne and R. A. C. Dewar vs. R. Tuthill and W. MacKay.

J. P. Owens and E. G. Sherwood vs. P. J. Harris and J. Raeside.

The above games precede the semi-finals.

Owing to the absence of many bowlers in Vancouver last week there was a slackening in club competitions, but these will be resumed immediately. Advantage was taken while the British Columbia bowling tourney was in progress to put the upper green in good shape for the balance of the season. One feature of the games at present is the number of visiting players. Many persons come to Victoria for the Summer months who find bowling a pleasant entertainment during holidays.

Rifle Shooting

The Victoria and District Military Rifle Association held their mid-week practice at the Heal's Ranges on Wednesday afternoon.

There was an exceptionally heavy heat haze and a tricky mirage, especially at 600 yards, which made shooting difficult. Following are the scores:

HUDSON'S BAYS AND TILLICUMS MEET DEFEAT IN YESTERDAY'S LEAGUE CRICKET

Five C's Win by Wide Margin From Former—T. and V's Successful Over Clubmen

Each of the two leading clubs in the Wednesday Cricket League sustained defeat yesterday. The Hudson's Bay eleven met their reverse at the hands of the Five C's, who won by 139 to 88, at Beacon Hill, and the T. and V. C. C. defeated the Tillicums by 62 and 78 to 46 and 47, at the Jubilee Hospital.

In the Beacon Hill match the Bays batted first and were unable to do much against the bowling of the Quainton brothers and Pillar. C. E. Quainton took six wickets for 32 runs. Barber-Starkey was top scorer with 19 runs.

Butterworth was high man for the Five C's with 31 runs, and E. Cox and Eric Quainton had 25 each to their credit. Hansen was the most successful bowler in this innings with three wickets for 36.

Low scoring featured the day's play at the Jubilee Hospital grounds, where the T. and V.'s defeated the Tillicums by 47 runs. Scaife batted well for the winners, making 40, and W. Wilkinson played well in the second innings for his 27, but it was a bowler's day. Pendray had an analysis of nine for 56, Billings twelve for 43 and Phillips five for 15. Taylor, of the Tillicums, made a fine running catch to dismiss Barber in the winners' second innings. The full scores follow:

Yanks' First Sacker Breaks Up Struggle by Clouting Homer With Ruth on Base—Pittsburgh Boosts Position With Win Over Brooklyn While Cubs Lose to Giants

AMERICAN LEAGUE

NEW YORK, July 27.—The Yankees drubbed the Browns, 4-1, today, making the fourteenth set-back of the St. Louis club at the end of the New Yorkers this season. Lou Gehrig broke up a mound struggle between Ballou and Pennock, connecting for his thirty-third homer in the sixth with Ruth on base. The blow put Gehrig in a tie with Ruth for home-run honors.

Tenth Inning Rally

Scoring three runs in the tenth inning, Chicago won at Washington, 7-4.

Hurling Duel

The Detroit Tigers defeated the Athletics at Philadelphia by a score of 3-1. Earl Whitehill bested Sam Gray in a hurling duel. Harry Heilmann hit a homer in the sixth.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

NEW YORK, July 27.—Pittsburgh resumed undisputed leadership in the National League by defeating Brooklyn, 2-1, at Pittsburgh today, while the Cubs were losing to the Giants. Vic. Aldridge hooked up in a pitcher's duel with "Dazzy" Vance.

Auspicious Start

New York made an auspicious start on its Western trip by making a dramatic ninth-innings spurt to down Chicago by 6-4, relegating the Cubs to second place. The Giants went into the ninth trailing by two runs.

Divide Twin Bill

The Reds divided a twin bill with the Boston Braves at Cincinnati, but climbed into fifth place in the National League when they won the second game, 5-2. The Braves won the first game, 7-2. Both games were won on one-inning rallies.

Cards Nose Out Phillies

The St. Louis Cardinals celebrated their return home from a lengthy road trip by nosing out Philadelphia, 9-8, in a hectic eleven-inning series opener. With the score tied, the bases full and two down Blades singled, scoring Douthit for the winning run.

Ball Will Wreck Browns; G. Sisler May Be Shunted

ST. LOUIS, July 27.—Despairing of making any headway with his present array of fading veterans and reconditioned ball players, President Phillip D. Ball, of the St. Louis Browns, announced that he planned to wreck his present club and to build an entirely new outfit before the next season.

Ball estimated the club had lost $100,000 so far this season and $76,000 last season. He bemoaned the downfall of the old-line pitchers.

"Our club is loaded up with players who have enjoyed long trials and have failed to come through," he said. "We also have several malcontents, who do the club no good.

"All the dead and dying timber will be culled.

"We have some fair prospects on the Tulsa Club, but stars there are a long, long way from major league class. We'll get the talent some place, however."

Ball said the management unanimously considered only four of the twenty-five players on the roster as "necessary" to the club, and George Sisler, first baseman and former manager, was not among them.

"Sisler has been something of a disappointment to me, although he has not done badly this year," he said. "He is still a great player, but if trading him will help our team, he will go."

CRESCENTS HOLD SIDNEY TO TIE

Commercial Baseball Teams Battle Seven Innings to Five-All Score at Millmen's Stronghold

SPENCERS DEFEAT TILLICUMS, 7 TO 4

Crescents, commercial balltossers, battled seven innings to a five-all score with Sidney, champions of the Commercial Baseball League, last night at the Millmen's stronghold. At the end of the sixth canto the home team was leading by a 4-2 score, but a strong rally by the visitors in the first of the seventh netted them three counters. In their half of the seventh Sidney annexed one run to the count.

Al Mummery, who worked on the mound for the Crescents, breezed ten and was nicked for eight safeties. He was wild at times, issuing four free trips, but pitched good ball in the pinches. Williams, who hurled for the Millmen, was touched for nine hits and was credited with a corresponding number of strikeouts.

The score by innings follows:

Crescents .... 0 0 2 0 0 0 3—5

Sidney — Lines, c.; Mitchell, ss.; Steele, 2nd; Simpson, 3rd; McNeil, c.f.; L. Crossley, l.f.; Peterson, r.f.; Lind, 1st, and Williams, p.

SPENCERS WIN

In a seventh-inning rally, during which they annexed four runs, Spencers defeated the Tillicums, 7-4, last night at the Royal Athletic Park, in one of the best games of the season. The winners took a two-run lead in the first, only to have the Tillicums come back and tie the count in the next canto. Three scoreless innings, during which the teams played bang-up ball, passed in quick order. In the last of the sixth the Clubmen sent two men around to give them a two-run lead.

In the first of the seventh, Spencers bunched their hits off Campbell to score four runs and victory. They added another in the eighth.

Pepin did the hurling for the winners, and was cool throughout. He breezed nine and had seven hits chalked up against him. "Lefty" Campbell was touched for twelve hits and struck out six.

The score by innings follows:

Spencers .... 2 0 0 0 0 0 4 1—7
Tillicums .... 0 2 0 0 0 2 0 0—4

The teams were:

Spencers — Mawhinney, 1st; Corbett, l.f.; Rutledge, 2nd; Smith, c.f.; Collins, ss.; Barry, 3rd; Quinn, c.; Gold, r.f.; Donaldson, c. and r.f., and Pepin, p.

Tillicums — McLaren, r.f.; A. Hilton, c.f.; Saville, ss.; Kenny, 2nd; Campbell, p.; Steele, 1st; Bates, l.f.; Dunnett, 3rd, and C. Hilton, c.

Canadian Soccer Team Chalks Up Another Victory

WHANGAREI, N.Z., July 27.—Playing in heavy rain, the Canadian all-stars defeated the North Auckland soccer team, 4-1, here this afternoon, on what was practically a flooded field. Despite the inclement weather there were 3,000 spectators present.

British Bowlers Win

TORONTO, July 27.—The touring British bowlers added another victory to their credit yesterday at the Balmy Beach club, defeating six Toronto bowlers by a margin of 15 shots. The Old Country trundlers totalled 127 shots, winning three games, being held to a tie by Balmy Beach and losing to Riverdale and Parkdale.

Now comes to story of the absent-minded professor, who rolled under the dresser and waited for his collar button to find him.—Western Reserve Red Cat.

English Stars to Play for Wightman Cup

This is the team of English lady tennis players photographed on board the Cunard liner Ascania from which they disembarked at Quebec last week. Their itinerary takes them from Quebec to Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Niagara Falls, Buffalo and New York. From left to right they are: Betty Nuthall, Gweneth R. Sterry, Joan Fry, Mrs. D. A. Hill, Ermyntrude Harvey, and Major Dudley T. R. Larcombe, Secretary of Wimbledon, manager of the team.

New York Will Not Get Season's Fistic Plum

Rickard Wants Arena to Seat 125,000 or More, and Declares Gotham Has None — Los Angeles Gives Ex-Champion Great Reception on Return Home — Sharkey "All Right Now."

NEW YORK, July 27.—Before leaving late today for Chicago, probable scene of Gene Tunney's heavyweight title defence against Jack Dempsey this Fall, Tex Rickard dealt what appeared to be a final blow to New York's chances of staging the season's fistic plum.

Although Rickard declared he will not know for at least two days where the fight will take place, he completely overruled a suggestion of Charles A. Stoneham, president of the New York Giants, that the Polo Grounds here offered a site large enough to accommodate a $2,000,000 house at $50 top.

Stoneham's statement, which, in effect, offered the promoter use of the grounds, was made "in fairness to the press and all lovers of boxing" as proof that there is a "place in New York City large enough to warrant Rickard's conducting the proposed Tunney-Dempsey contest here at a profit to the promoter."

Rickard apparently eliminated New York from consideration when he declared that he was "more concerned with the seating capacity than the top price for seats at the September renewal of last Fall's record-breaking struggle.

"What I want is an arena seating 125,000 or more, and New York has none of that sort," Rickard declared.

50,000 GREET DEMPSEY

LOS ANGELES, July 27. — Jack Dempsey came home yesterday. Fifty thousand people milled about the station and flanked the avenue down which he passed—a wild-eyed, pushing, screaming, cheering mob.

It was the greatest outpouring of concentrated enthusiasm and welcome ever recorded in Los Angeles, declared old-timers who viewed the welcome given the former heavyweight champion and conquerer of Jack Sharkey.

Three hundred police at the railway station formed a first line defence about the observation car where Dempsey stood. Suddenly the crowd surged forward and the police were tossed aside—lost in the eddying, roaring, irresistible wave of admiring men and women.

The official reception was held immediately afterwards at a downtown hotel. How he fought there through the storm of people Jack, the man who came back, didn't know tonight. He said it was tougher than Sharkey.

Two, or maybe a half dozen, man-sized tears leaked out of the eyes of the great mauler, and his voice wobbled and words would not come when he tried to tell everybody how glad he was to be home again.

Referring to the report that Sharkey showed a lack of courage in the big fight, Dempsey said:

"He's no coward. He's one of the toughest fellows I ever met. He's a good fighter and will get better. He lacks experience and showed it when he was hurt."

Then Dempsey called up his wife, Estelle Taylor, whom illness kept from taking part in the welcome, on the telephone and told her he'd be home in twenty minutes. He was.

SHARKEY "ALL RIGHT"

NEWTON, Mass., July 27.—Jack Sharkey, Boston's big boy of the prize ring, admitted yesterday that he had suffered a slight aftermath of his battle with Jack Dempsey in New York last Thursday, but said he was "all right now."

Last Saturday he consulted his physician, Dr. Martin H. Spellman, of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, regarding what appeared to be a slight intestinal hemorrhage. On Sunday he went to a hospital for an examination. The physician recommended that he remain at St. Elizabeth's for some time for observation, but Sharkey refused and went home. The only prescription given by Dr. Spellman was "rest up and keep quiet."

NEW GOLF CLUB OFFICERS NAMED

Work on New Gorge Vale Course Will Start Within Two Months—Has 420 Members To Date

At the meeting of the Gorge Vale Golf Club held last night in the Chamber of Commerce, the memoranda and articles of the company were approved and, after a discussion the by-laws and constitution of the club were passed. Although much preliminary work is yet to be done, it is hoped, that the actual construction work on the course will start within the next two months.

The following directors were elected: Mr. Dave Fyvie, Mr. W. S. Morris, Mr. James Smart, Mr. W. D. Christopher, Mr. Thomas Angus, Mr. Sturrock, Mr. Meredith and Mr. Fox. The officers of the company will be elected from the above directors.

It was brought out that 420 members had been signed to date, leaving only thirty vacancies to be filled. The quota is expected to be reached shortly.

Authorization was given to the board of directors to go ahead with the registration of the company and to deal with any other matters to hurry the commencement of actual operations.

KERR INELIGIBLE

Sporting Editor, Sir,—Kindly permit me to correct any erroneous impressions that may be taken from the announcement through your columns that Johnny Kerr, of the Eagles, has been signed by the Sons of Canada Baseball Club. The player no doubt signed a contract, but as such cannot be recognized by the local league, or the B.C. A.B.A. under whose regulations and by-laws, eight senior "A" and ten senior "B" leagues are operating this year, he would not be able to play.

Last season seventy-four baseball clubs were affiliated with the B.C.A.B.A. so it should be readily seen that there must be regulations governing their leagues, and British Columbia championships.

The following extract from the by-laws cover this situation: "No player shall sign a contract with any league or club affiliated with this association after June 30 in each year; and no player will be allowed to transfer after June 30 in any year.

The above regulation has been governing for the past few years, and I do not believe there is any necessity for any infraction of the by-law at this time.

I hope that the staunch supporters of baseball will receive this explanation in the interests of regulated sport, and extend my thanks for your kind indulgence.

President Victoria Senior Amateur League.

"Shamateurism" Is Greatest Menace To Court Pastime

LONDON, July 27.—"Shamateurism" is the greatest menace in the world to good tennis, in the opinion of Charles B. Cochran, who has been managing Suzanne Lenglen and other professional tennis stars on a tour through England.

"Professionals will do no more harm to tennis than it has to golf, cricket, football and baseball," said Cochran. "The all important thing is to keep amateurism and professionalism entirely separate and not to have amateurs camouflaging their professionalism."

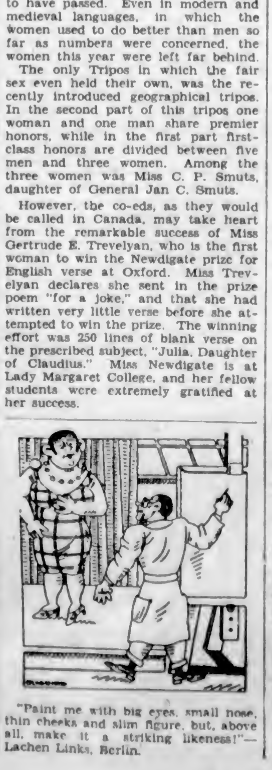
Oxford Limitation On Women Students So Far Unnecessary

OXFORD, Eng., July 26.—Since the congregation of Oxford University decided to limit the enrollment of women to one for every four male students, much comment, derisive or humorous, has been indulged in. One thing would seem certain, and that is that the "female peril" is by no means so great as to justify the action for some time to come.

Women are hardly stronger at Oxford than at Cambridge. At Cambridge, in the recent examinations, their most ardent advocate could hardly say they were shining lights. The time when women could beat the men would seem to have passed. Even in modern and medieval languages, in which the women used to do better than men so far as numbers were concerned, the women this year were left far behind.

The only Tripos in which the fair sex even held their own, was the recently introduced geographical tripos. In the second part of this tripos one woman and one man share premier honors, while in the first part first-class honors are divided between five men and three women. Among the three women was Miss C. P. Smuts, daughter of General Jan C. Smuts.

However, the co-eds, as they would be called in Canada, may take heart from the remarkable success of Miss Gertrude E. Trevelyan, who is the first woman to win the Newdigate prize for English verse at Oxford. Miss Trevelyan declares she sent in the prize poem "for a joke," and that she had written very little verse before she attempted to win the prize. The winning effort was 250 lines of blank verse on the prescribed subject, "Julia, Daughter of Claudius." Miss Newdigate is at Lady Margaret College, and her fellow students were extremely gratified at her success.



"Paint me with big eyes, small nose, thin cheeks and slim figure, but, above all, make it a striking likeness!"—Lachen Links, Berlin.

'FLAMING WATERS' IS COLUMBIA'S THRILLER

Smashing Drama Relieved by Delicious Comedy Featured in Danny O'Neil's Latest

Redolent with romance and adrip with adventure, "Flaming Waters," hailed as the most sensational oilfield story ever filmed will reach the screen of the Columbia Theatre today for its first local showing.

Smashing drama and touching sentiment are nicely mingled in a melange of thrills. The high point in "kicks" comes when Danny O'Neil saves his mother and fiancee as they are isolated on the roof of their dwelling, which has fallen into the river of blazing oil surrounding the house.

These scenes are done with superb effect and in the best of taste. The menace of the burning oil as it sweeps down the valley on the flood waters of the reservoir is beautifully handled.

Mixed in with the spectacular features of "Flaming Waters" there is some delicious comedy which is just tinged with pathos.

DOMINION THEATRE Mr. Simpkins, employer of the frivolous and lovable stenographer-heroine of Russ Westover's famous comic strip, "Tillie the Toiler," now playing at the Dominion Theatre, has come to life in the person of George Fawcett. Fawcett, one of the most famous character men of stage or screen, has one of the best roles of his entire film career in Marion Davies' latest Cosmopolitan production, just made at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio. He played the role of the king in "The Merry Widow," and is famous for its interpretations of many other great screen roles. "Tillie the Toiler" is Marion Davies' first farce comedy in years, and is said to be one of her best film productions. Matt Moore has the leading male role in Mac, while the other cartoon characters are played by equally notable film artists.

VARIETY THEATRE Orderly officers are not accustomed to seeing beautiful women in the fighting lines and for that reason Alf had to give some explanation when Lieutenant Allen came along and found him conversing with Venus' understudy. Resourceful as always Alf rubbed his second button of his tunic, Eustace appearade and in a moment the beautiful one had vanished. Lieutenant Allen stared in amazement. "Must have been deucedly powerful stuff we had at the officers' mess last night," he murmured, and walked on. Alf's supernatural Hindu is the dominant note in the roaring comedy, "Alf's Button," which is showing at the Variety Theatre today.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Horrors! Irene Rich has grey hair. But only in "The Honeymoon Express," the Warner Bros. film now showing at the Playhouse Theatre. In Miss Rich's characterization, her hair has begun to be streaked with grey from household worries and from her efforts to hold the family together. The three children, played by Helene Costello as Jean, Harold Goodwin as Lance and Virginia Lee Corbin as Becky, have just reached the age of know-it-all, and are unmindful of their mother and disgusted with their father. Then comes mother's rebellion and transformation!

CAPITOL THEATRE The mud rush is the newest motion picture thrill producer! It makes its celluloid debut in Milton Sills' latest starring picture for First National, "Framed," at the Capitol Theatre. A mud rush in a tropical diamond mine bears no relation to gold rushes or land rushes! It is a mine disaster, always feared in the regions where it occurs, because it is so swift and deadly in its action. In certain tropical regions there is a layer of soil kept fairly solid by occasional sun-bakings, and under it is semi-liquid mud in a thick layer. This mud exerts a pressure like that of water on deep mine tunnels. When it breaks through, it fills up those tunnels, and often traps the men working in them. Sills and his leading lady, Natalie Kingston, are caught in a "blind" tunnel by a mud rush, realistically reproduced for "Framed." They make their escape after the deadly ooze has engulfed them shoulder high.

GRAND OPERA NOT ON A PAYING BASIS

LONDON, July 26.—The hope that grand opera will ever be produced in London upon a paying basis seems a forlorn one, although it is likely that the loss upon the season at Covent Garden which has just finished will be smaller than usual. Last year's loss, moreover, was only half that of the year previously, and a heartier measure of public support has been extended this year.

"We are satisfied with the season's work, although the financial position will not be ascertained fully for some little time," declared a member of the London Opera Syndicate which now controls the season's performances at Covent Garden. "The two performances of 'The Ring' were particularly successful; we could have given a third and still filled the house.

"The performances of the twenty-odd English singers during the season have proved immensely popular, and we were glad to be able to include them."

She Says:

One Very Thin Woman Gained 10 Pounds in 22 Days

If she only knew that she could put on at least 5 pounds of good, healthy flesh in thirty days she wouldn't be worrying about her peaked face, hollow chest and run-down looks.

All of these conditions rob you of attractiveness and make you look old. But worst of all, these may actually be the symptoms of simple anaemia—that dread ailment so often suffered by women.

There's nothing so good as the vitamines of cod liver extract put up in the new fashioned, pleasant-to-take form known as McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets to put on firm flesh, round out face and figure, and build up rich, red blood. McCoy's contains the same kind of vitamines which doctors say you must have to attain proper weight, strength and energy.

One woman gained ten pounds in twenty-two days; 60 tablets 60 cents. Ask MacFarlane Drug Co., Vancouver Drug Co., Owl Drug Co., or any druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets, and if you don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your money back. Demand McCoy's, the original.

"LOST AT THE FRONT" COMES TO PLAYHOUSE ON MONDAY NEXT

"An army of pretty women!" is a statement that just misses being an actual fact in "Lost at the Front," a hilarious war comedy of an entirely new sort that will feature the entertainment bill at the Playhouse Theatre next week. It misses because a few of the woman in the feminine army used in the picture are plump, a few grotesquely angular. But the majority who appear in scenes in which the famous Russian Battalion of Death figure, are Pulchritude itself! "Lost at the Front," directed by Del Lord, co-stars George Sidney and Charlie Murray, with Natalie Kingston, First National leading lady and Wampas Baby Star for 1927, as its eye-taking feminine attraction.

CAPE BRETON BIG IN FLYING HISTORY

Island Passed by All Transatlantic Flyers Scene of Dr. Graham Bell's Experiments

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.—It is singular that Cape Breton Island, which is seeing all the transatlantic flyers go by, already should be associated with the work of three men who have done most to make neighbors of the nations—Morse, Bell and Marconi. It also was the scene of early experiments in mechanical flight.

"It was on Cape Breton's shores, at Cape North, that the first successful Atlantic cable was landed in 1867," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society. "For years through the lonely north country of the island ran the land line of the cable company—the slender links between continents which united two civilizations. The laboratories of Alexander Graham Bell at his estate, Bienn Bhreagh (Beautiful Mountain), near Baddeck, were for thirty-five years the centre of the great scientist's work of research and experiments, ranging all the way from aerial locomotion to the breeding of a multi-nippled, twin-bearing stock.

"Dr. Bell's work is of special interest to the members of the National Geographic Society, of which he was for many years president and a member of its board of trustees from its founding to his death. From his boyhood, Bell believed in mechanical flight, and he was working on kite structure when Samuel Pierpont Langley visited him at Cape Breton in 1894. It was Bell who encouraged Langley's work in aerodromics and gave him financial assistance at a time when even the radical minds in the scientific world looked askance at the man who would fly. And he was the sole witness, other than Langley's workmen, of that historic flight at Quantico, Virginia, in May, 1896, of which Dr. Bell siad:

"'The sight of Langley's steam aerodrome circling in the sky convinced me that the age of the flying machine was at hand.'

"For the next ten years Bell devoted himself to the perfection of his tetrahedral kites. On December 6, 1907, the giant Cygnet No. 1 made an ascent of 168 feet above the waters of the Bras d'Or Lake, carrying Lieutenant Thomas E. Selfridge, U.S.A. This was the first machine of the Aerial Experiment Association, formed by Dr. Bell in 1907, with Summer headquarters in Cape Breton, the object being 'to get into the air.' Associated with him were Lieutenant Selfridge, who was detailed to assist the experiments; two young Canadian engineers, F. W. Baldwin and J. A. D. McCurdy, and Glenn H. Curtiss, who was the motor expert of the association.

"They got into the air. It was with an A.E.A. machine, the Red Wing, that Baldwin made the first public flight in America over the ice at Lake Keuka, New York, in 1908—a flight of 318 feet eleven inches, twenty feet in the air."

The bulletin also recalls Marconi's wireless telegraphy experiments on Cape Breton Island.

"But when you came you agreed to work for a small salary on consideration of being treated as one of the family."

"Maybe, but then I didn't know the family."—Meggendorfer Blaetter, Munich

POLAND REPORTS A BIG SURPLUS

Despite Substantial Increase in Government Revenue People Are Lightly Taxed

In April, the first month of the new fiscal year which the Polish Government has just established, Poland showed a surplus of 36,400,000 zlotys or over $3,000,000 in its Government accounts, continuing the monthly surpluses in revenues which began in July, 1926. A year ago in April there was a deficit of 2,000,000 zlotys. According to information transmitted to Bankers Trust Company, of New York, by its Foreign Information Service, the improved showing this year over last is due to a substantial increase in revenues amounting to 65,800,000 zlotys and only a moderate increase in expenditures of 27,400,000 zlotys. All sources of the Government income, namely taxes and customs, state enterprises, and monopolies have contributed to increase revenues.

LIGHTLY TAXED

Notwithstanding the substantial increase in Government revenues, both in direct and indirect taxes, Poland continues to be one of the most lightly taxed countries in Europe. In 1926 the total of direct and indirect taxation per capita figured out at $7.95. This compared with about $68.50 for Great Britain, $34.75 for France, $26.40 for Germany, $17.50 for Austria and $16.40 for Italy.

Expenditures in April were almost exactly one-twelth of the estimate for the entire fiscal year and the several categories of expense were substantially in line with the estimates for the year. Revenues for April on the other hand were about one-tenth of the budgetary estimates for the entire year, indicating the conservative character of the latter. The results of the first month in the new budget would indicate a surplus at least equal to that of the calendar year 1926, wihch amounted to 88,800,00 zlotys.

Squalid Tenements of N.Y. East Side Doomed

NEW YORK, July 27.—Doom of the traditional "Lower East Side," with its squalid tenements and rookeries, has been pronounced by Harry H. Schlacht, president of the East Side Chamber of Commerce.

A great civic centre will rise in the neighborhood of Seward Park, he said. In accordance with plans of public officials, it will surround the $4,000,000 Seward Park High School, construction of which will start on the old Ludlow Street jail site in September.

Schlacht, who is a member of the Mayor's Committee on Housing, said the park would be surrounded with modern apartments. In the new Lower East Side Centre will be the Educational Alliance on East Broadway, and the Public Library. A monument to the Lower East Side's war dead also is planned.

49. Mineral rock.

In this puzzle black bars have replaced black squares as the dividing marks between words. The puzzle is solved in exactly the same manner as the old-style puzzle.

The numbered definitions are of words which when correctly thought out fill the white spaces in the diagram. Each number represents the beginning of a word, reading either across or down to a black bar. A black bar to the left of the number indicates a horizontal word; above a number, a vertical word.

Both vertical or horizontal numbers may begin a word, though inspection of the puzzle will show that this is not always the case. The correct words will have one white space for each letter and will interlock accurately and signify the definitions.

The horizontal and vertical words are different and through the definitions serve to check each other off with cross-clues from which you can recognize other words.

The improved style of diagram used in this puzzle fulfills all the recognized conditions and at the same time eliminates black squares. The diagram is 100 per cent efficient, as each square receives a letter and there is no wasted space. Through the elimination of unnecessary squares larger squares have been made possible. Every cross-word solver will recognize the convenience and advantage of the perfected diagram.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

SHIRLEY
The Girl Who Leaped Into Life

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

(Copyright, 1927.)

CHAPTER X

"BUT—but—" With a look of blank bewilderment Shirley turned first, as she always turned to her twin. But Allen's red-brown curls, short and crisp as Shirley's own, and a patch of forehead were all she could see of his face, bent low over the table, where he stabbed the white cloth with a fork. Allen uttered no word of protest. He would not look up. For the first time in her eighteen years, Shirley felt utterly alone. For the first time the alliance with Allen was broken. She turned to her father, who sat flushed and uncomfortable at the head of the table.

"I'm sorry, daughter, just as sorry as you can possibly be," he said, in answer to the appeal in her eyes. "I know this has hit you hard. But I hoped till a month ago that we could send you both to the university, as we've always planned. I hoped those oil leases would turn out big—make up for everything I've lost on the business these last two years. I put all I could into them—it was all or nothing. And it turned out to be nothing. We aren't paupers, of course, but I can't afford to send you both. There'll be just enough for Allen, with careful managing."

"But why choose Allen—necessarily?" A fierce little spot of color flamed in Shirley's cheecks. "We're both ready. We've both had the same marks in school. I guess it means about as much to one of us as the other." The hurt in Shirley's voice was not the ache of disappointment so much as the stab of injustice. It wasn't fair! She didn't even have a chance to make the sacrifice of her own accord. They pushed her into it willy nilly, as a matter of course. She was shocked, as youth is shocked by its first encounter with indifference to its simple standards. They made no effort to strike a balance—they just settled it offhand.

"Shirley!" Mrs. Hardin turned to her daughter with a frown of distress crinkling her forehead. Despite her years, she looked like a child about to cry. "Surely my little girl isn't going to be selfish." She groped with her hand and patted Shirley's fingers, clenched into a tight little fist on the table. "It can't be both of you, and Allen has to have his chance. After all, you are a girl. It would be nice for you to go, but it isn't necessary, the way it is for Allen. And you can have a lovely time here at home. You and Allen have always thought so much of each other; you couldn't want to stand in his way. He has his future to consider. A man can't get very far without college education nowadays. Allen!" The distress in her voice was even sharper than when she had spoken to Shirley. "You'll ruin that tablecloth. Do stop punching it!"

Allen looked up involuntarily. There was no evading Shirley's direct gaze. He and Shirley had ben inseparable from babyhood. He seldom thought of her as his sister: she was something different—a twin. They fought each other's battles and scrapped in friendly rivalry, neither giving nor receiving quarter. Once when Allen was engaged in a rough and tumble fight appropriate to his ten years, Shirley had rushed in and hit his opponent a neat and sturdy blow on the nose. The boy, caught unawares, automatically struck back. The surrounding crowd promptly turned thumbs down.

"Yah; Fighting with a girl. Charlie Adams hit a girl!" they jeered.

"Never you mind," Shirley said, staunchly, "I guess I licked him, didn't I?"

But Allen had seized her by the elbow and dragged her out of the circle"

"You can't act that way, kid," he said, "butting in, two against one. That ain't the game, see? Fight if you want to, but you gotta play by the rules."

It was always that way. He taught her the rules—boys' rules Never to "peach"; never to call for help; always to say, "It wasn't anything," if you got hurt; never to cry. They worked up a stiff game of tennis together and won the state junior championship at mixed doubles. He taught her, when she was playing against a boy, never to accept the privilege of first serve or the shady side of the court except by the spin of the racquet. "If you win, you gotta win right, see? Not because you got the edge by being a girl."

And now—he was taking the "edge" by being a boy. The eyes that held his were not accusing, but worse—they were surprised. And yet—he was going to be a doctor. That took time and money. He couldn't afford to wait. It was different for a girl. It didn't mean so much to Shirl—it couldn't! They'd meant, of course, to go on together. But a gird didn't have to go to college. She could always get married. Why did Shirley look as if he'd taken a point by a faulty linesman's decision?

"I'll tell you what, dad," Allen said suddenly. "We'll go halves on the money, I'll work my way part time, and so can Shirl."

"That's fine and generous of you, boy," Mr. Hardin answered. "You show a chivalrous spirit."

Shirley shot a quick glance at her father. He called it chivalrous of Allen to go halvers. They didn't call it fine and generous of her to give up her half; it was a demand, the demand of the expected.

"But I can't let you do that," Mr. Hardin went on. "Half of college is in the contacts you make, the—activities, they call them nowadays, don't they?" You must be able to join a fraternity, to have real college life. Half measures wouldn't be any good to either of you. And medical training's a long pull. I appreciate your spirit of sacrifice, son, but I can't accept it. Shirley can be just as fine a little woman here at home."

Yes, she could be just as fine a woman at home—only it happened that she had counted on going, wanted to go just as much as Allen did. That was what they couldn't see.

But it wasn't her father's speech that brought tears into her eyes. It was Allen's. She wasn't alone any more, as she had been a few moments before. Allen was playing the game. He wasn't taking any points. Well, she wouldn't take any either. And she wouldn't cry!

"Dad's quite right, Allen," she said steadily. Her small pointed chin lifted. She ran her fingers through the "windblown" confusion of her short red-brown hair, pushing it off her forehead in the way she had when she was facing match point at tennis. "Halvers would be no good. It's dad's money, and he has a right to put it on any horse he likes."

"Shirley!" protested Mrs. Hardin. But Shirley ignored the shocked objection to her metaphor.

"But that isn't the real point. The real point is how we settle it ourselves. You've got to go, that's settled. And it's better to have one winner in the family than two stragglers. So that's that."

Try as he might to hold his voice steady, Allen could not quench the light of relief that shone from his eyes.

"Shirley, you're a dead game sport," he said.

"Oh, can the sob-sister stuff, it's not a life and death matter." Shirley's mouth turned up at one corner in its wide, crooked smile—the smile of a mischievous boy. "Let's call the council adjourned and see if that heap o' junk you insult Henry by calling a Ford will take us to a movie."

But there was no smile on Shirley's face when she stood alone in her room that night.

"I won't give up yet," she said sternly to the face that stared back at her out of the mirror. She shook the tears out of her eyes—one didn't cry, even alone. "They didn't play the game—Allen would have, but dad and mother didn't. They want to make girl's rules. Well, I didn't sign up for 'em, and I'm going into the game in my own way. I don't know just how yet—but you watch me, Shirley Hardin!"

C.N.R. EARNINGS SHOW DECREASE

Falling Off in June Net Revenue Is Shown Despite Increase in General Traffic

MONTREAL, July 27.—Gross earnings amounting to $22,545,250, and net earnings of $646,564 are shown in the summary of earnings and expenses of the Canadian Northern Railways for the month of June. These figures compare with gross earnings of $23,114,896 and net earnings of $2,027,580 for the month of June, 1926. This indicates a decrease in gross earnings of $569,646, equivalent to 2.46 per cent in June, 1927, in comparison with June of the previous year, and also a decrease in net earnings for last June of $1,381,015 when compared with the same month of 1926.

Working expenses in June, 1927, totalled $21,898,685, as against $21,087,315 in June, 1926, an increase of $811,369, or 3.85 per cent.

A number of factors enter into this condition, one being grain traffic. Owing to the smaller carry-over this year there was less grain hauled in June, the result being a reduction of approximately a million dollars in earnings from this source in comparison with June, 1926. On the other hand general traffic earnings improved to the extent of approximately $500,000, which compared favorably with those of last year.

CORONER'S JURY RENDERS VERDICT

VANCOUVER, July 27.—That Otto Bosch, 20, whose death occurred following an operation, in hospital here last Sunday, died as a result of a blow on the head struck by George Burgess, eighteen, on a C.P.R. eastbound freight train near Ruby Creek, B.C., last Friday, was the verdict returned this evening by the coroner's jury which investigated the case. Otto Reibergen, twenty-two, who appeared with his head swathed in bandages, testified that he and Bosch were "beating their way" to the interior of British Columbia, or to the Prairies in search of work when they were attacked by Burgess and John McKenzie, seventeen, who were also "riding the rods." Reibergen said that their assailants believed that he and Bosch had $50, which they intended to take, but that he himself had only $3.55, while Bosch also had a small sum. Both Burgess and McKenzie, who have been charged with murder in connection with Bosch's death, appeared at the inquest but did not testify.

NATIONAL CONVENTION OF CONSERVATIVES TO HAVE 1,500 DELEGATES

CALGARY, July 27.—Before leaving for the Coast this afternoon, Brigadier-General A. D. McRae, chairman of the National Conservative Committee, arranging for the convention in Winnipeg on October 11, said he expected fully 1,500 delegates would be in attendance, and that with the addition of others interested, there would be some 5,000 persons present when the new party leader was selected.

Mr. McRae, while here, met party leaders of Southern Alberta.

Beer Parlor Men Ask To Keep Open Later

VANCOUVER, July 27.—In view of the fact that the Provincial Liquor Control Board is keeping some of its Vancouver liquor stores open until midnight, holders of beer parlor licences are endeavoring to keep their places open until the same hour. An application is being made to the Government for this purpose. The beer licences point out that it is possible to purchase liquor in Government stores from 10 a.m. until midnight, and they see no reason why they should have to close their parlors an hour earlier.

Urges Prince Carol To Go After Throne

GENERAL AVERESCU

Former Premier of Rumania, who is reported to be seeking to induce Carol, former Crown Prince, to claim his father's throne. By such a coup, Averescu, it is said, hopes to oust Premier Ion Bratiano, his old political foe, who is hostile to Carol.

LIBERAL SPEAKS ON NAVAL ISSUE

Marquis of Reading Says British Government Does Not Speak for One Party Only

LONDON, July 27—The Marquis of Reading, former Ambassador at Washington, was the chief speaker at a dinner given at Dartmouth House tonight by the English Speaking Union in honor of the visiting American editors.

"I am confident that His Majesty's Government is seeking every possible means to arrive at an agreement in the question which is now the subject of so much discussion," said Lord Reading, alluding to the disarmament dispute at Geneva. "His Majesty's Government does not speak for one party. Certainly the party to which I belong (Liberal) is associated with the Government in the desire to reach an agreement.

"There may be people, particularly in America, who believe that we are actuated by imperialistic notions, but they are quite mistaken. Whatever Government is in power now in England and for a long time to come, seeks the peace of the world, and will always try to avert war."

Lord Birkenhead presided at the dinner and Major John Jacob Astor welcomed the visitors to England.

THREE FOREST FIRES ON VANCOUVER ISLAND

VANCOUVER, July 27.—Several fire outbreaks were reported to the District Forester here today, and continued hot dry weather increases the probability of further outbreaks. Two fires on the Bloedel, Stewart & Welch operations at Menzies Bay, Vancouver Island, were reported to be of some magnitude. One is near Elk Falls, where a bridge across the Campbell River is under construction, and where the Willamette Co. is surveying for its pulp mill project. Forest rangers are also standing by the Cumberland fire, which is spreading into the bush to some extent.

Col. Coote Addresses American Legionaires

SPOKANE, July 27.—International peace can be secured through the cooperation of ex-service men of all nations, Col. A. L. Coote, of Vancouver, B.C., official representative of the Canadian Legion at the American Legion convention of the Washington department, told the executive committee at a meeting here today.

"If the ex-service men of all nations stick together there will be no more war," he said.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

CHECKING SPINAL PARALYSIS

Recently a great deal of publicity has been given to several cases where death resulted from Landry's disease. This is a form of acute ascending spinal paralysis, and has been named after Gene Landry, a French physician who spent considerable time in investigating this rare disorder. Dr. Landry died in 1865, so you can see that even though this is a rare disease, we have known about it for a long time.

Acute inflammation starts in the lower spine, and if it is not stopped, gradually ascends the spinal cord and produces paralysis, which begins in the toes and creeps up the body as the different spinal centres are affected. When the fever and degeneration reach the nerves controlling respiration, death usually ensues very quickly. Patients have, however, been kept alive for several days by artificial respiration, and in a few instances this treatment has sustained life until the fever disappeared, allowing the patient to recover.

The common basic cause of this paralysis is essentially the same as with infantile paralysis or spinal meningitis. A systemic toxicosis must exist before such spinal inflammation can be generated.

At the first sign of any kind of paralysis, it is important to reduce the general bodily toxemia as rapidly as possible. To accomplish this, no food of any kind should be taken until the trouble has been arrested. The poisons which are eliminated through the skin should be washed away hourly by sponge baths. Several enemas should be taken daily to insure a thorough cleansing of the colon.

If the paralysis has already extended to the lungs, it is necessary to keep up artificial respiration. The circulation of the blood can be increased by several gentle massage treatments daily.

All of these methods may be used at the same time, and nothing should be neglected which will reduce the fever and remove all poisonous waste material from the system.

If any food is given while this critical change is taking place, it will only act as poison to the body and no food substance of any kind should be allowed. It is the height of folly to expect milk, eggnogs, or any other kind of food to be assimilated by the body during a fever crisis.

Feeding by the rectum is even more harmful than when food is taken into the stomach. All stimulation should be avoided and no saline or glucose used. The one thought must be to eliminate every kind of poison from the body as rapidly as possible. This is not only true in Landry's disease, but in every kind of paralysis.

In the treatment of any acute disease, there is one word to remember above all things and it will stand repetition — elimination — elimination —elimination.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question—P. M. writes. "I read your article recommending fasting for absorbing a clot of blood from the brain. I know a woman who had a stroke from a clot of blood on the brain thirteen years ago that somewhat paralyzed her right side. She hasn't spoken a word since. She moves her lips and mumbles away, but cannot even say "yes" or "no." Do you think fasting would cure a case of such long standing? She is about forty-five, weight one hundred and fifty, and is the picture of health."

Answer—I am sure your friend would be helped by fasting, but it would take a fast of two or three weeks to accomplish good results. The best plan would be to have her go to some doctor in the city who understands the fasting cure—who would encourage her and watch her case during the fast.

Question—L. M. writes: "Will you kindly state some of the symptoms of a cancer in the stomach? Is there any pain or bloating?"

Answer—Sometimes there is a certain amount of pain and some bloating, but in most cases the nerves of sensation seem to be cut off by the growth, and the rule is that very little pain is felt. There is usually considerable bloating, especially through the intestines. You may be needlessly worrying over the symptoms of gastritis or stomach ulcer. Do not guess about it, and do not try to diagnose your own case.

Question—R. M. L. writes: "Generally speaking, what are the starches?"

Answer—The grains and those vegetables classed as "tubers" which grow under the ground.

WILL INAUGURATE NEW MAIL ROUTES

Postoffice Rural Delivery to Serve Over Twenty Miles of Additional Territory

DUNCAN, July 27.—The Post Office Department is inaugurating a new rural mail delivery route to be known as Route No. 2, eleven miles in length, to serve the Gibbons Road area. The route followed will be Gibbons Road, Menzies Road, Cowichan Lake Road, to Island Highway, and Norcross Road. The Duncan Chamber of Commerce has been active in pressing for this service, which will operate twice a week.

Another route to be known as Route No. 3, at present being advertised, will serve the Glenora District, and this will also be a bi-weekly service. This route is nine and one-half miles in length.

FIRE CAUSE OF EXTENSIVE LOSS

FLAMES DESTROYED THIRTY HOUSES BEFORE BROUGHT UNDER CONTROL

No Insurance Carried by Japanese Owners—Canadian Collieries Apparatus Saved Cumberland

CUMBERLAND, July 27.—The very disastrous fire which occurred at No. 5 Jap Town, Cumberland, last night destroyed upwards of thirty houses before brought under control. Absolutely no insurance was carried, so far could be ascertained, the only houses insured being a little removed from the path of the fire. The members of the Cumberland Volunteer Fire Department worked extremely hard in an endeavor to check the flames from spreading. They were badly handicapped by the lack of water and the close proximity of the houses was all against the volunteer firemen. Creed and color was forgotten, many of the residents of Cumberland doing all in their power to assist the Japanese in salvaging as much of the contents of their homes as possible.

No accurate information could be ascertained as to the number of people rendered homeless by the conflagration. The hall committee of the Anglican Church placed the church hall at the disposal of the Japanese rendered homeless, but as there are a number of vacant houses in No. 1 Jap Town and lots of accommodation at the Japanese owned sawmill at Royston, it was not necessary for the hall to be thrown open.

How the fire originally started has not been determined, but the fire bell clanged furiously at about 5:15 p.m., and in a few seconds, the local brigade was on its way. The Courtenay Fire Department also responded and the members were standing by late last night, assisting the local firemen in keeping the fire from spreading to the surrounding bush. Had it not been for the Canadian Collieries' pumping unit, consisting of two enormous tanks mounted on flat cars and holding approximately 5,000 gallons of water, nothing could have saved the fire from completely wiping out the settlement and spreading to the surrounding bush. The Colliery Company has a gang of men out guarding the fire to keep it from spreading.

OTHER OUTBREAKS

In addition to the disastrous fire at No. 5 Jap Town, the Cumberland Fire Department was called out twice yesterday to quell fires at Li Yuen's restaurant, which did considerable damage to the rear portion of the building; and also to a fire at Mr. T. McMillan's residence, West Cumberland, where, on arrival of the fire fighters, it was found that practically the whole roof was ablaze.

KAMLOOPS TROUT FRY IS DISTRIBUTED FROM COWICHAN HATCHERY

DUNCAN, July 27.—A shipment of Kamloops Lake trout fry, destined for McKay and Crystal Lakes near Ladysmith, passed through here today in charge of Mr. J. H. Castley, of the Cowichan Lake Hatchery. Three hundred thousand Kamloops trout fry have been distributed from the local hatchery in the past few weeks for restocking Island waters, principally in Shawnigan, Quamichan and Somenos Lakes.

COLLIERY EMPLOYEE DROWNED IN FLUME OF PUNTLEDGE PLANT

CUMBERLAND, July 27.—Crawford Thompson, an employee of the Canadian Colliery Company, was drowned at the flume, the overflow from the power house of the Puntledge Light & Power Company, some time on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Thompson, who was employed with the carpenter gang of the colliery company, was working at the flume, but how he managed to fall in remains a mystery. The body was recovered in the late afternoon. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made, an inquest being held today.

North Saanich Social Club Holds Party

The North Saanich Social Club held their regular monthly card party and social evening in the club rooms, School Crossroads, on Saturday night. There was a good turnout of members and friends who spent a most enjoyable evening at the progressive five hundred which was played at eleven tables. Brisk playing for twenty hands resulted in the first prizes being presented to Mrs. Lorenzen and Mr. George Lloyd. At the conclusion of the game refreshments were served by the supper committee, the coffee being poured by the younger members. The remainder of the evening passed pleasantly at dancing, for which an additional crowd came in, the music being efficiently supplied by the North Saanich Social Club six-piece orchestra.

The first annual general meeting of the North Saanich Social Club (incorporated) will be held in the club rooms, School Crossroads, on Saturday evenings at 8:30 o'clock. It is hoped that all members wil endeavor to attend as there is a great deal of business to be carried out.

Luxton Hall Fund Benefits by Dances

LUXTON, July 27.—Mr. Walter Wyebrow has resigned from the Luxton hall committee, his place being taken by Mrs. Dick Oliver.

A most successful dance was held on Friday last in aid of Hall funds. The refreshments were served by Mesdames Madden and Oliver and the music was supplied by Pitts' orchestra, about 125 being present. Another of these popular dances will be held on Friday, August 5, from 9 to 1 o'clock.

PATRICIA BAY TENNIS

A very successful tennis tournament and open-air dance was held Saturday from 9 to 12 p.m. at the Chalet Hotel grounds, Deep Bay. Dances will be held each Saturday through the Summer.

COLWOOD PICNIC

COLWOOD, July 27.—The Colwood Athletic Club are holding a basket picnic at Witty's Lagoon on Saturday, July 30. Members, parents and friends are asked to assemble at the hall at 1:30 o'clock. A number of prizes have been donated, and there will be swimming and other sports. A request is made for help in transportation.

The Daily Colonist Can Help You Get What You Need

To own a car, a house, a riding horse, or a small business is not necessarily an extravagant desire. A car or a house will broaden your outlook and stiffen your ambition; a horse or a business can give you health and wealth.

Any man who really wants one of these things—let us say an automobile—can afford one, at least a good used car. The initial cost is low, and upkeep is not so high as you probably think.

You can find the good used car in the Want Ad columns of this paper. The small business, the home in the suburbs, the riding horse and many other things are there, too, offered reasonably!

Sellers! Let our Want Ads help you to dispose of properties or articles you no longer need. Others will be glad to get them. But you must first tell the world they are for sale, and you can—quickly, conveniently, economically—through the medium of a Want Ad—simply phone our "Ad Taker."

OLYMPIAN IS SPLENDID TRAIN

Local Newspapermen Are Guests of Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway at Seattle

ROLLER BEARINGS REMOVE FRICTION

(Colonist Staff Representative)

SEATTLE, July 27.—The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company's new roller-bearing equipped flyer "Olympian," placed on exhibition here, was inspected by thousands of people today.

The new dining car "City of Seattle," attached to the exhibition train, was officially christened by Mayor Bertha K. Landes.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul is proud of its pioneering achievement in railroad engineering, and has excellent reason to be proud. The new "Olympian" has been heralded far and wide as the ultimate word in railroad luxury and efficiency, and Victoria newspapermen visiting the exhibition train today found that in no way do the advance notices seem to have been exaggerated.

Everything, apparently, that human ingenuity can devise for the comfort of the traveling public has been installed on the new "Olympian."

Beginning at the mammoth 321-ton electric locomotive, which draws the train over 660 miles of electrified road leading right out of the depot here, an endless stream of visitors filed through the sample train.

To commemorate the inauguration of the new service, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company gave a dinner tonight to visiting newspapermen. Mr. George B. Haynes, passenger traffic manager, with headquarters at Chicago, and Mr. J. F. Bahl, assistant general passenger agent, Seattle, were hosts. Mr. A. P. Chapman, Jr., general agent for the company at Victoria, attended with representatives of the Victoria press. The dinner was served in the new type dining car, and newspapermen were given an opportunity of judging the excellence of the food served on the road.

The new "Olympian" is unquestionably, as claimed, the last word in railroad engineering. The feature of the train is the Timken roller-bearing installation on all cars. This reduces friction to a minimum. Thus, when the train is started there are no jerks or crashes to jar the sleeping passenger out of his slumber. The start is so gentle as to be almost imperceptible.

There are innumerable other features on the new "Olympian." There are shower baths, for example, for women as well as for men. There is a soda fountain in the club car. There is Frigidaire refrigeration, which does away with the loading of cargoes of ice and insures that food shall always be fresh. There is heating control apparatus in individual compartments. There is a ladies' smoking-room in the observation club car. There is a barber shop and valet service. There is an electric food mixer in the kitchen. There are, indeed, a host of improvements over the old type of train. There is luxury even in the colonist car.

In fact, if the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul decides to alter the new "Olympian," only some such train equipment as a swimming pool could be expected in the way of improvement.

COMPANY OFFICIALS HERE ON BUSINESS

Vice-President of G.N.R. and Manager of Puget Sound Navigation Company Visitors

Captain W. E. Mitchell, general manager of the Puget Sound Navigation Company, and Mr. R. J. Oliver, traveling freight and passenger agent, were in the city yesterday in connection with ferry business. Captain Mitchell had just finished an inspection of the twelve ferry routes owned by the company and reported finding business quite satisfactory.

Mr. C. O. Jenks, vice-president of the Great Northern Railway, and Mrs. Jenks also arrived in the city from St. Paul, Minnesota. Mr. Jenks was pleased to note an increase in building and general progress in the city since his last visit.

While in Washington Mr. Jenks investigated the Klamath Falls railway project but was not prepared to give any details concerning it at present. He left on the afternoon Vancouver boat to meet his private car at Vancouver.

Joseph Bennett Wheat Pool Superintendent

VANCOUVER, July 27.—Joseph Bennett has been appointed superintendent for the Alberta Wheat Pool elevators here. He is well known here, having been superintendent of the Government elevator for years. He left Vancouver some time ago and went to Calgary to manage the terminal plant for the Grain Board. Later he went to Prince Rupert for the Wheat Pool, and from there has been transferred to Vancouver.

Slot Machines Legal

TORONTO, July 27.—Operation of automatic slot machines, which sell mint candies, the legality of which has been questioned for some time here, was held to be legal by Magistrate Jones, who in police court yesterday, dismissed the charge of keeping a common gaming house laid against Harold May. He had a slot machine in operation in his store and a charge was laid against him.

AORANGI TAKES PROMINENT MEN

Among the 500 Passengers Are Sir George and Lady Fairbairn, Sir Jarvie Hood and Hon. W. McCormack

AUTOS AND CANNED SALMON ARE CARRIED

Taking out a list of 500 passengers and a heavy cargo, the motorship Aorangi, of the Canadian-Australasian Line, Commander R. Crawford, arrived here yesterday at 6:30 in the evening and sailed at 9 o'clock for Honolulu, Fiji, Australia and New Zealand. There were 250 first cabin passengers, 150 second class and 100 third. Her cargo was principally automobiles, canned salmon and machinery.

Several hundred people thronged the wharf an hour before the liner docked, many being passengers and others there to say fond "Au revoirs" to the lucky ones on the ship bound for the tropics.

Quite a number of prominent passengers went out on the liner, including Sir George Fairbairn, agent-general of the State of Victoria, and Lady Fairbairn, returning from London to Melbourne; Hon. W. McCormack, Premier of Queensland, returning from a financial mission to London and New York; Sir Jarvie Hood, eminent Sydney surgeon, who made the round journey on the steamer; Major C. S. Cunningham; Mr. J. L. Pullar, the well-known dyer of Perth, Scotland; Rt. Rev. H. W. Cleary, D.D., Catholic Bishop of Auckland and long editor of The Month in that Dominion; Major E. Percival Brown, K.C., F.R.G.S., and Lt.-Col. Eric Pepler, D.S.O.

Major Cunningham expressed his satisfaction in the beautiful scenery of Canada. He had been particularly interested in the progress of irrigation in Western Canada.

Bishop Cleary was returning from a visit to Europe. He is well known at Auckland as editor of The Month, a periodical with a circulation of over 10,000, devoted to religious interests. He expressed a desire to return to these waters and spend some time on the Island, having heard of the wonderful scenery in this part of the Province.

Homesick Stowaway

QUEBEC, July 27.—Pleading guilty to the charge of having attempted to travel on a ship without consent or permission of the master of such ship, Henry Hensley, a native of Manchester, England, was sentenced by Judge P. A. Choquette, to a fine of $25.00 or four weeks in jail. The stowaway, who had been arrested at Rimouski when he was discovered on board an outgoing steamer a few days ago and brought back to Quebec to stand trial, was penniless and had to go to jail. He entered the country in a regular and legal manner about three months ago but experienced a serious case of homesickness. His case will be submitted to the Immigration Department with a request that he be deported.

Iyo Maru Clears

Outbound for the Orient, the N.Y.K. vessel Iyo Maru, Captain Fujimura, cleared here yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Thirty-five bags of mail for the Far East and ten passengers were taken on.

The passengers were Shoji Kosuge, returning to Kobe after recovering from an attack of typhoid, and Mr. Hayashi and family of eight.

Marine Notes

A report received yesterday states that salmon catches in the Skeena for the last week have been more satisfactory owing to continued sunny weather.

To load several hundred thousand feet of lumber here, the freighter Nepturian arrived at Ogden Point docks yesterday morning. She will be in port two or three days.

Under charter to the Canadian Transport Company, the freighter Euro is expected this morning to load lumber.

The steamship President Grant, of the American Mail Line, will reach Victoria Monday, according to cabled advices. The liner is bringing 278 passengers, 2,500 bales of raw silk, 200 cases of silk goods and 3,500 tons of general cargo.

The N.Y.K. liner Tokiwa Maru brought one of the heaviest shipments of Siberian furs to Seattle last Tuesday. Large consignments of camphor from Formosa, $2,000,000 worth of raw silk, and a general assortment of Oriental products, gave the ship a full cargo.

S. Izawa, purser of the Tokiwa Maru, who tips the scales at well over 200 pounds, has the distinction of being the heaviest purser of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha Line.

After being reported overdue, the sailing schooner Sophie Christenson, Captain Dan Morgan, arrived at Nome on Tuesday, fifty-three days from Seattle.

Lumber loading is extremely brisk on the Columbia River this week. Longshoremen are said to be at a premium and much of the loading is being delayed.

The 15,000-ton passenger motorship building at Belfast for the New York-Bermuda service of Furness, Withy & Company, will be launched tomorrow, and it is intended to have her ready for Christmas in order to participate in the next Bermuda tourist season. The ship will be named Bermuda.

According to advices received here, the twin screw motorship Pacific Reliance, built to the order of the Norfolk & North American Steam Shipping Company, Limited, has been launched from the yards of Blythswood Shipbuilding Company. The owners of the ship, which will be used in the North Pacific-United Kingdom service of the Furness Line, are a subsidiary company of Furness, Withy & Company, Limited.

There was a sharp increase in world shipbuilding during the quarter ended June 30, according to the records of return from all maritime countries, contained in Lloyd's Register.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

Esquimalt—To find the depth of water on the sill at the drydock at any tide, add 18.8 ft. to the height of high water as above given.

Colombo Crew To Be Guests of City Next Week

Arrangements are being made by Alderman Harvey, on behalf of the city, for an entertainment for the men of H.M.S. Colombo, now in port at Esquimalt from the West Indian Station. It will be held at Hamsterley Lakeside on Wednesday next, the general plan to be that of the entertainment of the men of the sister ship Curlew during her visit last Summer. There will be a sports programme and dance in the evening, for the latter event an augmented orchestra will be provided.

Notice to Mariners

Mariners are hereby notified that the black wooden spar buoy marking the extremity of the rocky shoal off the west side of Stanley Park, English Bay, Burrard Inlet, B.C., is reported out of position.

This aid will be replaced in position as soon as possible.

A. W. R. WILBY,
Agent, Department of Marine
Victoria, B.C., July 26, 1927.

TO SPEAK HERE

Rev. Dr. McCrossan is expected over from the Christian and Missionary Alliance in Seattle to give a Bible study in the King's Hall tomorrow evening. He will continue in the Gospel by St. John, from the second chapter.

MYHAUG TAKES ON 1,250,000 FEET

CHEMAINUS, July 27.—The motor ship Myhaug entered port Friday and left last evening for Australia, having completed her cargo of 1,250,000 feet of lumber. The tug Sea Foam brought in a scow load of lumber for the Myhaug during the week-end.

On Monday morning the C.N.R. transfer No. 3 brought in eight and took out the same number of loaded box cars. She was towed by the tug Hopkins Bros., a recent acquisition of the C.N.R.

With nearly 300,000 gross tons more of merchant vessels under construction throughout the world now than at the end of March, and with over 900,000 tons more than at the beginning of this year, a return to the pre-war volume of production may be under way.

MISUNDERSTOOD

"You're back early, Michael," remarked the farmer's wife to the head man who had been to a theatre in the town.

The other nodded a silent agreement and proceeded to enjoy a pipe and study his programme.

"Enjoy the play?" asked the woman.

"No," replied the man. "Didn't see the end."

"Why not?"

"Well, take a look at the programme here. The second act takes place in two years' time."

Archie—"Say there, mister. Can you tell me the name of Noah's wife?"

George—"Sure, Joan of Arc."

2 DEATHS

BUCKETT—On July 26, there passed away at the family residence, 1318 Fairfield Road, William James Buckett, aged fifty-four years, a native son of this city. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow; one son, Robert William Buckett; two sisters, Mrs. H. Traeger, of Vancouver, and Mrs. W. O. Boyd, of Denver, U.S.A.; also one grandson. He was a member of Britannia Lodge, No. 73, A.F. & A.M.; Court Vancouver, A.O.F., and the Rotary Club.

The remains are resting at the Thomson Funeral Home, 1625 Quadra Street, from where the funeral will take place this afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, after which the remains will be laid to rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery. The Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick, M.A., rector of St. John's Church, will conduct the service.

Canadian Champ Wins

BLACKWELL, Okla., July 27.—Jack Dennisey, welterweight champion of Canada, knocked out Tommy Flynn, of Memphis, Tenn., in the fourth round of a scheduled ten-round fight here tonight.

Visitor—Do you find poultry-keeping pays?

Farmer—Well, no; I can't say it pays me, but it pays my son, Mike.

Visitor—How's that?

Farmer—Well, you see, I bought him the fowls; I have to pay for their keep and buy the eggs from him, and he eats them.

SONS AND U.C.T. CLASH TONIGHT

Ball Teams Meet in Important Game—Outcome Will Have Large Bearing on Race for Pennant

FORBES TO PITCH FOR SAMPLEMEN

FRED McINNES
Of the Travelers, who will hold up Forbes in tonight's game against the Sons of Canada.

The league-leading U.C.T. and the Sons of Canada will clash at the Royal Athletic Park tonight, at 6:15 o'clock, in one of the most important games of the season. The samplemen hold a half game advantage over the natives, and a merry battle is expected to decide the leadership.

Manager Cy Milne, of the Canadians, has signified his intention of using Kerr on the mound, but President Hunter announced last night that he was not eligible to play. In view of this announcement, it is expected that Ray Parfitt will take the mound for the Sons.

Manager Humberstone, of the Travelers, is sending Norman Forbes, his first choice chucker, to do the heavy work. Forbes is pitching great ball and has his curves working to perfection.

Both squads will be out at full strength and a bang-up exhibition is anticipated. One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to attend.

Manitoba Wheat Pool Holds Annual Meeting

BRANDON, July 27.—The fourth annual meeting of the Manitoba Cooperative Wheat Producers, Ltd., started here today with delegates in attendance from all parts of the Province. The directors reports showed that the total deliveries of wheat to the Manitoba Pool during the last year were 16,038,885 bushels and 12,793,261 bushels of coarse grains. This compared with a total of 26,201,515 of all grains in 1926, and shows an increase of 2,600,000 bushels in round numbers.

VANCOUVER, July 27. — Johnny Bayley, Vancouver, won the annual free-for-all swim staged in English Bay on a three-quarter-mile course under the auspices of the Vancouver Swimming Club here this evening in 20 minutes 53 seconds.

VISITING TARS WIN EXHIBITION SOCCER

Team From H.M.S. Colombo Defeats Royal Canadian Navy, 2-1—Bluejackets Show Fine Work

Coming from behind on two occasions in the last minute of each half, the soccer team from H.M.S. Colombo defeated the Royal Canadian Navy, 2-1, in an exhibition game at Victoria West Park yesterday afternoon.

Esquimalt gained the lead in the first half when Cozier, at outside left, made a fine individual run, to beat Partridge with a deceptive shot. Play for the early part of this half favored the locals. Towards the latter part the Colombo's team began to show to advantage, and two minutes from half-time, Kimpton equalized, when he headed the ball past Barker, following Tracey's corner kick.

In the second half of the game the winners had the better of the play, but the work of Barker robbed them of many likely shots. Breakaways by the Esquimalt men were dangerous at times, but the opposing defence handled the situation nicely.

With about two minutes to go, Harris beat Barker with a low shot for the winning goal. P. O. Titshall refereed and the teams were:

H.M.S. Colombo — Partridge, Smith, Wenn, Barklem, Kimpton, Butler, Tracey, Baldwin, Dovey, Sells and Harrison.

Esquimalt—Barker, Whyte, Cooper, Gleave, Roberts, Stewart, Dyson, Grosvenor, Robinson, Hall and Cozier.

PLAY CONTINUES IN ESQUIMALT TENNIS

McCallum and Davey Extended by Cabledu and Peden in Doubles—Draw for Friday Announced

Play continued yesterday in the annual Esquimalt tennis tournament at the Hillcrests courts with six games being decided. The men's doubles, between McCallum and Davey and Cabeldu and Peden, was the feature of the day, the former being extended before winning, 7-5, 6-4. Results follow:

Mixed Doubles—Miss Thomas and Stock defeated Mrs.Aylme and Aylmer, 6-3, 6-0; Miss Green and Peden defeated Miss Wise and McCallum, 6-2, 6-3.

Men's Doubles—Butler and Poyntz defeated Williams and Lockley, 6-4, 6-3; McCallum and Davey defeated Cabeldu and Peden, 7-5, 6-4.

Men's Singles—Williams defeated Lockley, 6-1, 6-3; Stock defeated Wright, 6-1, 6-3.

Today's draws follow:

LADIES' DOUBLES

5:30 p.m.—Miss Green and Mrs. Poyntz vs. Miss Wise and Mrs. Kent-Fawkes.

6:00 p.m.—Miss Matson and Mrs. Matson vs. Miss Tisdall and Miss Stevens.

JOHN DOEG SCORES SENSATIONAL WIN

Seventeen-Year-Old Californian Beats Winner of Southern Men's Title in Three Hard Sets

NEW YORK, July 27.—Rising young tennis stars of West and South, met today in the third round of the Metropolitan Turf Court championship and the West won in a hard fought three set match. John Doeg, seventeen, of Santa Monica, California, youngest player ever selected for the Davis Cup defenders, downed Bryan Grant Jr., also seventeen, of Atlanta, Ga., winner of the Southern Men's Title two weeks ago, 6-8, 6-4, 7-5.

Doeg thus entered the quarter finals, where tomorrow he meets Watson M. Washburn, New York, veteran Davis Cup defender.

After the match, Doeg paired with Bobby Sellers, fellow Californian, to win in the opening round of New York State sectional doubles, also being played at the Crescent Athletic Club here. Young Grant and his brother, Perry, twenty-two, lost their first round in straight sets to the Texans, Louis Thalheimer and Wilmer Allison.

Sharing singles interest with the Doeg-Grant match, was the 8-6, 6-3 victory of Dr. George King, New York, No. 10 in the national ranking over E. W. Feibleman, New York, former Harvard player. Dr. King thus was the first to reach the semifinal round.

Airplane Spots Fires

NELSON, B.C., July 27.—Captain Ted Dobbin's airplane, operating from Nelson for the forest branch, spotted four lightning fires late yesterday on False Creek, north of South Slocan. Crews have been rushed out and the flames are believed under control. Thunder and lightning is general in the district and the forestry plane will go up this morning in the Kaslo area.

MOOSE JAW PRO WINS OPEN TITLE

Fred Fletcher Leads Field by Two Strokes to Take Western Canada Professional Championship

MOOSE JAW, July 27.—From the select of Western Canada's golf talent, Freddie Fletcher, youthful professional of the Moose Jaw Golf Club, tonight stood far to the front, bearing the Western Canada open championship to keep company with his open title, continuing his notable performance in the final round of the 72-hole championship. The new champion today finished two up on a field composed of many more experienced players.

At the start of the morning round Fletcher was six up on McKenna, his closest threat. At the termination of the 36-hole round his margin over the defending champion had jumped to seven strokes. But, out of the field, the veteran, Eric Bannister, followed closely by Joe Land, made a gallant attempt to annex the crown. They supplied the big thrill by fighting their way to second and third places in the professionl race after a bad start in the opening rounds.

Joe Lynch Outpointed

CLEVELAND, July 27.—Tony Canzonera, New York, bantamweight, outpointed "California" Joe Lynch in the ten-round main bout at Olympic Arena tonight.

MEHLHORN LEADS IN QUALIFYING ROUNDS

Two American Professionals in Front in Thousand Guineas—Duncan Shoots Fine Score

LEEDS, Eng., July 27.—Wm. Mehlhorn and Larry Nabholtz, the only Americans in The Yorkshire Evening News' Thousand Guineas Golf Tournament, occupied first and second places respectively among the thirty-two qualifiers at the end of today's play.

Mehlhorn's total for the two rounds, yesterday an dtoday, was 140.

Nabholtz was only one stroke behind.

George Duncan, the famous British golfer, made a sensational round of 68 today, duplicating Mehlhorn's score of yesterday and equalling the course record. He took 75 to negotiate the eighteen holes yesterday.

Air Race For King's Cup To Be Best Ever

LONDON, July 27.—The air race for the King's Cup this year is expected to be the best of the series. It will take place on July 30, over a distance of about 510 miles, and will probably be flown from circuits of 170 miles each around Nottinghamshire, near the Hucknall aerodrome. This will bring the race into an area of England which has shown considerable enthusiasm for flying. Nine light aeroplane clubs are now associated with the Royal Aero Club—Halton, Hampshire, Lancashire, London, Midland, Newcastle, Norwich, and Norwich-and-Suffolk.

TILDEN GETS MONEY OFFER

Reports Circulated That Tennis Star Advanced to Accept $25,000 a Year to Coach Baltimore Club

JUNIOR COEN WINS STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

CHICAGO, July 27.—A reported offer of $25,000 a year to William T. Tilden to turn tennis coach excited the gallery at the Illinois tennis championships today more than the action on the courts.

The Westchester-Baltimore Club, of Rye, N.Y., was said to have made Tilden the offer, but Tilden said he knew nothing of it. His only appearance in today's matches was in the doubles, paired with A. L. "Sandy" Weiner, of Philadelphia, one of his proteges. They defeated the University of Illinois pair, Gordon Braudt and Frank O'Connell, 6-1, and 6-2.

Alfred H. Chapin, Jr., of Hyannis, Mass., the defending champion, was pushed to the limit today by Harris Coggeshall, of Des Moines, but finally won, 6-2, 1-6, 8-6. Don Strachan, Philadelphia, also carried Chapin to a three-set battle before Chapin won his way to the quarter finals, 6-2, 6-8, 6-3.

Junior Coen, of Kansas City, again carried off the State junior championship with a four-set victory over Walter Thomas, of Elnor, N.J., but the fifteen-year-old star was defeated in the men's singles by Emmett Pare, of Chicago, 6-2, 8-6.

The victory put Pare in the quarter finals, along with Wray Brown, of St. Louis, Missouri Valley champion, and C. "Peck" Griffin, San Francisco.

Brown defeated Sandy Weiner, 6-4, 6-3, and Griffin put out Charles Lajeck, Chicago, 6-4, 6-0.

GRAIN RUST BEING FOUGHT FROM AIR

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., July 27.—A novel attempt to eradicate the danger of grain rust was made, northeast of this city recently.

A Winnipeg aviator, flying at a height of from twenty to thirty feet, spread a solution of sulphur over the grain on the Sanderson farm. The aviator traveled at a rate of 100 miles an hour.

The chemical solution, so far, has shown favorable results.

HUDSON'S BAY CO. RELICS EXHIBITED

WINNIPEG, July 26.—Relics of the history of the Hudson's Bay Company were exhibited here recently for the first time. Many old documents, books from old libraries used in the long nights of the Arctic, swords, guns, marriage licences, signed before the company officers, and examples of life from every part of the country touched by the company were on view.

A model of the Nonsuch Ketch, the little ship that dared the ice floes of Hudson Bay in 1668, a facsimile of the charter granted by King Charles II in 1670 along with the deed of surrender of land by the Hudson's Bay Company to the Dominion of Canada portrayed the historical events linked up with the opening of the North country. Andrew McDermitt's peppercorn lease of land for 1,000 years on payment of one peppercorn a year is among the collection.

Delicate Instrument Tests Heat of Stars

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 26.—Carrying an instrument so delicate that it is believed it could measure the heat of a match 5,000 miles away if no atmosphere intervened, Dr. Charles G. Abbot, acting secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, has started for Mount Wilson, California, to continue the measurement of the heat of the stars.

The instrument, so small that flies' wings are used in its makeup, is described as an improved radiometer, more sensitive than the one used by Dr. Abbot in 1923, when he made the first determinations of the heat spectrum of ten of the brightest stars other than the sun in the history of astronomy. With the new instrument, Dr. Abbot believes it will be possible to observe the heat of the spectra of stars fainter than the Pole Star.

The Smithsonian official also plans to visit the Solar Radiation Observatory on Table Mountain, California, where daily observations of the variations of the sun are being made in cooperation with stations in Chile and Southwest Africa to determine the sun's influence upon weather conditions.

Presumed Dead

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 27.—Believed drowned when the steamer Princess Sophia foundered in Lynn Canal in 1918, with all on board, William Housey, fisherman, was presumed dead in Supreme Court by Mr. Justice Morrison, on the application of the wife, Margaret Ellen Housey, Cambridge Street.

He (incurable philosopher)—"I know I'm but dust."
She—"Then dry up."

NEVERTHELESS, FINAL QUOTATIONS SHOW MANY NET GAINS AS WELL AS SOME LOSSES

Steel Common Crosses 129, Aided by Dupont Rumors—Bond Market Increases Activity

NEW YORK, July 27.—Heavy profit-taking sales checked promising rallying in today's stock market. Final quotations disclosed a rather long list of net gains ranging from 1 to 9 points interspersed with a smaller number of losses runing from 1 to 4½ points.

Recent strength of United States Steel common which crossed 129 today, was explained by the announcement that Dupont interests had acquired 114,000 shares for approximately $14,000,000 or slightly less than $123 a share.

Dupont common attained a new record high at 271¾ and then settled back to 269¼ up ¼ net.

Bethlehem moved up to within a fraction of the year's high at 55 in anticipation of a good quarterly account tomorrow.

Motor stocks again led in point of activity, despite renewed talk of price cuts. General Motors attained a new peak 227¼ and then lost all the day's gain. Nash was bid up 4½ points to a new top at 75, then eased to 74 on realizing.

Heaviness was most pronounced in such issues as U.S. Cast Iron Pipe, A. M. Byers, By-Products Coke, National Tea, United Drug and Shell Transports, all off 2 points or more.

Easing money and a ready reception of new offerings helped materially in maintaining a firm undertone in the bond market. Trading in listed bonds was in the largest volume in several days and a large acceleration of the over-the-counter movement was reported.

NO ADVANCE IN WHEAT FUTURES

Continued Rust Reports Cease to Have Effect—Only Usual Demand—Cash Grains Gain

WINNIPEG, July 27.—A flurry of short covering brought about another advance in July wheat on the Winnipeg grain exchange today. The new crop futures did not meet with unusual demand and failed to score gains. Apart from the interest in the cash month, the session dragged along in a listless manner, the close showing an advance of ⅜ cent to 1¼ cents down. Continued reports from private quarters that rust infection was spreading in the northwestern states and southern part of the Canadian Prairie Provinces had no effect on values.

The July option in the oats market provided the feature in the coarse grain futures with an advance of 2½ cents. Barley also met with fair demand.

Winnipeg Grain Letter

WINNIPEG, July 27.—The wheat market held firm today and prices were mostly slightly higher than the previous close. Trade was of fair volume The bidding was largely of a speculative character, there being no export business in evidence, while the selling was scattered and difficult to trace. The Pool is putting out a little new crop wheat on bulges. The cash month displayed tightness with a little foreign short covering going on, and buying difficult to place. There were further reports of rust both in the United States and Canada, but these did not have the bullish effect as on Tuesday, beyond checking any short selling, and it would seem that the market requires more buying power to carry prices upwarld to any extent. This may come through the confirmation of the spread and actual damage of rust as this menace is the chief factor at present and the situation will bear careful watching. Higher temperatures have prevailed the past week which while favorable to the crop, have also favored slightly the development of rust and this has made some headway. The forecast was for cooler temperatures, and this was considered favorable and was responsible for some selling. Exports quiet with little demand for toughs and one or two of lower grades, but the buying was not urgent. Saskatchewan Government crop report says wheat of that Province is about seventy per cent headed out and while later than usual is healthier. Advise purchases on declines.

Coarse Grains—Short covering in July oats with offerings very scarce gave the cash month a very strong tone and closing figures were 2 3-4 higher, while the deferred months were frequently lower. Barley was dull, no feature, closing 1-8 lower to 1-2 higher. Rye was weak, especially in the cash month with scattered liquidation in evidence.

Flax—Dull, but held very steady within a narrow range, closing figures about unchanged to 1-8 lower.

NOT TODAY, THANKS!

A very stout woman stopped a bus and told the conductor not to start until she got on top. When she reached the last step he called out:

"Are you all right, madam?"

"No," came the reply. "I'm coming down again."

She came down and stepped off on to the pavement.

"Where did you want to go, madam?" asked the conductor.

"Well," was the reply, "I'm not going anywhere today, but if it's fine I might go for a ride tomorrow, and I wanted to see if I could climb the stairs."
